

Soviet Command Is Abolished In Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — The Soviet Union took one more step Wednesday toward its announced objective of forcing the Western Allies out of Berlin.

Gen. Ivan Yakubovsky, Soviet commander for all East Germany, summoned officers of the three Western powers to his headquarters and handed them an announcement that the Soviet Command in Berlin is being abolished.

Commandant Transferred
The announcement said the commandant's duties were being transferred to Soviet headquarters in East Germany. These duties involve matters relating to the movement and supplies of the Western garrisons in and out of West Berlin.

In Washington, the State Department declared the United States would continue "to hold the Soviet Union responsible for carrying out its obligations in Berlin" and the Western commandants would continue to exercise their rights. The United States consulted its allies on the Soviet decision.

The full significance of the Soviet move was not immediately apparent. The Soviet representative remained at the important Berlin Air Safety Center. Russian guards were still standing sentry at the huge Russian monument built in the British sector at the end of the war.

The Communist East German government enthusiastically hailed the Soviet action as a "contribution to eliminating the re-maines of the Second World War." The Communists said the Western Allies had been maintaining the fiction of a four-power kommandatura in Berlin as a cover for a North Atlantic Treaty Organization base in Berlin.

It seemed to be implicit in the Communist move that removal of the Russian kommandatura from East Berlin automatically took away the basis for retention of other Allied commands here.

Not The Case
This is not the case, however. All three Western powers have pledged to maintain West Berlin as a free and independent city. The kommandatura, along with other Allied control machinery, was to operate during the period of occupation following German surrender with a subsequent agreement to be negotiated for the following period. There has been no such agreement.

The Soviet announcement did not state when the withdrawal of the Russian command was effective.

The Soviet action came as Berliners still were reacting indignantly to the fatal shooting by East German guards of an 18-year-old East German boy, who sought freedom over the Communist-built wall through Berlin.

Anger over the killing prompted West Berliners to stone Russian army vehicles in West Berlin. So the Russians started changing the guard at their war monument by means of armored personnel carriers.

The Russians were permitted to use the armored carriers on the understanding they would not be armed. Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II, American commandant, ordered that these vehicles be accompanied at all times by U.S. escorts in the interests of "safety and good order of traffic."

The three small armored personnel carriers rolled up to Checkpoint Charlie at 1 p.m. Before they could proceed into West Berlin an American jeep was driven across their path.

Red Protest Overruled
Two Russian officers finally dismounted. They were given Watson's order that an escort would accompany the movement of all armored vehicles in West Berlin. The Russian officers protested, but were overruled.

Two U.S. staff cars arrived and escorted the carriers to the monument. All this took about 45 minutes.

The carriers were back at the checkpoint with the escort within a half hour. As they were motioned through, the hand of a Russian soldier appeared in one of the portholes in the armor, waving to the American troops.

In Bonn, a West German government spokesman said Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has written letters to President Kennedy, Premier Khrushchev, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and President Charles de Gaulle urging that their commandants in Berlin get together to discuss the situation.

American Submarines Rendezvous At North Pole

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy disclosed Wednesday a historic rendezvous between two U.S. atomic submarines under the North Pole.

The demonstration could carry great significance in any future war in the arctic no-man's land lying between North America and Russia.

The President, announcing the rendezvous at his news conference, said it was an "exceptional tactical feat."

His reference appeared to be to ship-against-ship operations engaged in by the two submarines in an anti-submarine warfare exercise carried out in connection with the rendezvous.

The submarines were the Skate, which left her New London, Conn., home port on July 7 and the Seadragon, which sailed from Pearl Harbor on July 12. They met under the Pole on July 31.

The two are en route back now, with the Skate due in New London about Aug. 28 and the Seadragon due to arrive at the Seattle World's Fair on the same date. Both ships are 261 feet long and displace 2,600 tons.

Both submarines are veterans of previous polar trips. The Skate was the first submarine to surface at the North Pole—on March 17, 1959. The Seadragon, in transferring from the Atlantic to the Pacific fleet in August 1960, traveled by way of the North Pole.

Aboard the Skate is Dr. Waldo K. Lyon, polar research scientist of the Navy who was awarded the President's distinguished federal civilian service medal by Kennedy last month. Because Lyon was then en route to the now disclosed rendezvous, the medal was given to his wife by Kennedy. At the time, the White House and Navy declined to say where Lyon was, or to indicate precisely the reason for the award.

Following the rendezvous and anti-submarine warfare maneuver, the two ships surfaced through the ice at the Pole. Ceremonial parties, including flag-bearing color guards, were landed on the ice. Crew members visited each other and took a walk "around the world" on the ice at the spot marking the top of the earth.

In carrying out the submarine vs. submarine maneuver, the two subs were assisted by the icebreaker Burton Island and Navy planes shore-based in Alaska.

Commander of the Skate is Cmdr. Joseph L. Skoog, who is from Seattle.

Skipper of the Seadragon is Cmdr. Charles D. Summit, from Nashville, Tenn.

Quake Death Toll At 15; 60 Injured

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Slight earthquakes tumbled a few damaged buildings Wednesday in the wake of a series of tremors that caused about 15 deaths, injured at least 60 persons and wrought heavy damage across a belt of southern Italy.

But people of the affected region, though stunned and frightened by the violent disturbances Tuesday night, groped their way back to normal.

From this major port on the Tyrrhenian Sea to the Adriatic coast 150 miles away, Italians by the hundreds of thousands streamed back to jobs and homes they had fled in panic to stay out of the night.

Caroline Went Swimming
Vacationing Jacqueline Kennedy and her daughter Caroline went swimming as usual.

Though their cliffside villa at Ravello is only 45 miles southwest of the apparent epicenter of the worst quake, only slight tremors were felt in that region.

Mrs. Kennedy was visiting in the garden of another villa across town at the time. The jolt there also was slight.

The American First Lady visited the town square shortly afterward to shop. The square was thronged by many of the 2,500 villagers discussing limited effects of the quake — window rattling and felling of a few pictures from walls.

The major blow was a subterranean shudder that shook towns and villages for five seconds, cracking walls and windows, collapsing buildings and bridges and blacking out whole sections of the Italian peninsula because of downed power lines. Dozens of homes were destroyed.

Minor tremors occurred through the night and Wednesday morning.

Naples Damage Slight
Damage in Naples was slight. It was considerable in Avellino and Benevento, east of this city. More than 100 homes were damaged in the Appennine town of Ariano Irpino and huge cracks opened in the bell tower of its 15th century cathedral.

Throughout the stricken area, many residents huddled near camp fires in the countryside, or bundled together in parked cars for the night.

Many foreign tourists remained in four buses. No foreigners were counted among the dead and injured.

Settlement Made By Glen Alden

HARRISBURG (AP)—An offer by the Glen Alden Coal Co. to pay $45,000 for fish killed by acid mine drainage on the North Branch of the Susquehanna River was accepted Wednesday by the commonwealth.

The settlement, reportedly the largest ever made for a fish kill anywhere in the nation, ending months of negotiations between the Wilkes-Barre firm and the Justice Department.

The commonwealth originally had sought $38,504 for value of more than 100,000 game fish killed in a 55-mile stretch of the river between Wilkes-Barre and Sunbury last October.

Atty. Gen. David Stahl said he was pleased with the settlement "since it will make substantial funds available directly to the Fish Commission at once without the protracted delay that would have followed if court action had to be initiated."

Stahl had rejected an offer of some $32,000 by the firm two weeks ago and threatened court action.

He said the settlement headed off the possibility of court action, adding:

"Since there was no direct legal precedent in Pennsylvania for a claim of this nature by the commonwealth, it appeared almost certain that the case would have reached the highest state and possibly federal courts had it been necessary to bring a suit to collect the claim."

The money will be paid into the fish fund and will be available for general use by the Fish Commission.

A commission spokesman said the fund is not specifically earmarked for restoration of the affected portion of the river. But, he added, the commission can spend as much as proper to restore the river.

Sen. Engle Says

Testimony Misrepresented In Stockpile Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., has accused former Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey of deliberate misrepresentations in his testimony at a Senate stockpile hearing.

Engle, one of the Senate Armed Services subcommittee members tangled with Humphrey at last week's hearing into a $98-million nickel stockpile deal. He said in a Senate speech Wednesday that the former Cabinet officer tried to divert attention from this central issue: "Were unconscionable profits reaped from contracts, the terms of which were adverse to the national interest?"

Humphrey, whose testimony was cut off abruptly when Chairman Stuart Symington, D-Mo., recessed the hearing indefinitely, declined to comment on Engle's speech. Humphrey was Treasury secretary in the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration.

"I haven't seen the speech and won't have anything to say until I get a look at it," he said in Cleveland, Ohio.

Engle recalled that Humphrey told him at one point during the hearing that he, Engle, was "mixed up and confused."

Citing numerous passages in Humphrey's testimony and official records to backstop his argument, Engle declared the 72-year-old Cleveland industrialist's testimony was "enveloped in vagueness, uncertainty and contradiction" whenever figures were involved.

Points To Clear Up
The senator said that when the hearings resume these four points must be cleared up:

1. Humphrey's testimony that profits of his M. A. Hanna Co. were only $7.5 million after taxes while Hanna tax returns showed profits of more than $10 million.

2. Sworn testimony by a government auditor, which Humphrey and other Hanna officials disputed that "certain records subpoenaed by the subcommittee were destroyed or not produced."

3. Evidence that "Hanna misrepresented their operating costs, thereby billing the government for over $1 million" which "Hanna should have paid from their own pockets."

4. Auditor's estimates that Hanna acquired for $1.7 million a government-built smelter plant near its Riddle, Ore., mine which cost $25 million, and Humphrey's testimony that this was "not worth anything" without Hanna ore and had been paid for in full with nickel for the stockpile.

Machine Gun Bursts Fired From Ambush In Paris

PARIS (AP) — Machine gun bursts fired by assassins from ambush in a quiet Paris suburb shot out the rear window and two tires of President Charles de Gaulle's speeding car Wednesday night but he and his party escaped unharmed.

Two vehicles and gunmen at the roadside figured in the assassination attempt against the 71-year-old president, police said.

De Gaulle was showered with splintered glass when one of the estimated 120 to 150 bullets fired at his car smashed the rear window. Another bullet drilled a hole within inches of where the president usually sits, the Interior Ministry reported.

In all, six bullets were reported to have hit the presidential car.

The Interior Ministry said in a statement to newsmen that splintered grenades and incendiary grenades were found unexploded at the scene of the attack.

The ministry reported bursts of gunfire came from two cars parked on opposite sides of the road, catching De Gaulle's car in a crossfire, and witnesses reported there were several gunmen on foot firing from behind the parked cars.

Other cars, a member of De

Gaulle's escort, a passerby and a nearby shop were hit by bullets without serious injury or damage.

The attack came despite recently tightened security measures involving the use of planes and helicopters to keep the 71-year-old president—ever disdainful of attempts on his life—from reach of lurking enemies.

Elisee Palace, the presidential residence in the heart of Paris, issued a communique late Wednesday night saying:

Communique
"Several bursts of gunfire shattered the rear window (of De Gaulle's car) and shot out two tires."

It was De Gaulle's third known close brush with assassins in less than a year. It came as he was speeding to his country home from a cabinet meeting devoted to measures against a French crime wave blamed on French gunmen forced out of independent Algeria.

"We can only assume the attack was made by the European Secret Army (OAS)," a Paris police headquarters officer said.

The OAS has been blamed for previous assassination plots designed to block De Gaulle's successful campaign for Algerian independence.

Fire Three Bursts
The Interior Ministry said that gunmen fired three bursts at the official presidential sedan carrying De Gaulle, his wife and son-in-law to an airport outside Paris.

Bullets ripped two tires of De Gaulle's car but there were no injuries. The tires were safety type that do not go flat immediately. The party changed to another car that took them to a military airport.

De Gaulle and his party later flew as scheduled to his country home at Colombet-les-Deux-Eglises in Eastern France, where he has been spending most of the summer.

He arrived there safely later in the evening.

Find Vehicles
Police said two vehicles believed used in the ambush were found later parked in the nearby suburb of Clamart. One was a sedan of the same model as the De Gaulle Citroen and the other was a small Renault panel truck.

Submachine guns and hand grenades were found inside both vehicles, officers said. Spent shell casings littered the floor of the vehicles.

The Interior Ministry said at first that De Gaulle's car was fired on by a passing sedan.

But police said the gunfire came from gunmen who jumped out of a parked panel truck and a Citroen sedan which were both stationed within 50 yards of each other on the dimly lighted boulevard on the route of the presidential motorcade.

A dozen bullets crashed into the window of a radio-television store, one of many small shops that line the suburban street.

One bullet hit the crash helmet of a policeman in De Gaulle's escort, but he was not injured. Two other bullets blew out the tires of passing civilian cars.

An official car following De Gaulle's had to stop because of a bullet hole in the crankcase.

Youth, 19, Kills Father; No Motive

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—A college student who admired his professor father so much he wanted to be a teacher, too, wordlessly bludgeoned his parent to death Wednesday.

The victim held out his hand to his son and said, "Give me your hand. I love you," as he perished.

Harold L. Russell, 19, an "A" student, told the story in the sheriff's office after his father, Dr. Harris L. Russell, 54, was pronounced dead on arrival at Huntsville Memorial Hospital.

The son was charged with murder.

The father and son lived together in their home at Country Campus, a part of Sam Houston State College here where the father taught and the son was a summer student.

The youth's mother and father divorced. She remarried again.

Young Russell was unable to give any motive for the slaying. He was studying during regular school sessions at the University of Texas, where he had completed his freshman year.

"I wanted to teach like my father," he said. He was studying history.

His father taught foreign languages, getting his doctorate at the University of Chicago, where young Russell was born.

Recently the father bought his son a car as a reward for his good grades.

Stock Market Rallies Sharply

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market rallied sharply Wednesday and spurred above the level from which the May 28 plunge began.

The fall on May 28 was the worst since 1929.

Automobile shares, reacting to a General Motors Corp. prediction that 1963 will be an excellent year for the industry, led the advance.

The combination of the GM forecast and the crossing of the May slump line inspired other issues. Chemicals, savings-and-loans and some oils were strong.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks climbed 2.4 to 226.1, highest since May 24. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials gained 6.90 to 615.54, also its peak since May 24.

Among motos, Chrysler gained $2.75 to $57.62, Ford $1.25 to $45 and General Motors 75 cents to $33.25.

Teachers Outnumber Nurses

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—A public health nursing director recommended Wednesday that state colleges in Pennsylvania be certified to offer college degrees in public health nursing.

Martha D. Adam, director of the National League for Nursing's Department of Public Health Nursing in New York City, told the 11th annual state Health Conference here in prepared remarks:

"The biggest challenge before you . . . is the number and location of schools of nursing which are accredited for the preparation of nurses to function in the public health setting."

She noted that nursing students in Pennsylvania must go to Philadelphia or Pittsburgh to receive a college education. She urged that state colleges be accredited to bestow nursing degrees since these institutions are strategically located throughout the state.

"Nurses are scarcer than teachers nowadays," she said.

In another address, a U.S. Public Health Service official told the conference in his prepared remarks that man as yet is not able to isolate the virus which causes infectious hepatitis.

Area Men At School Of Banking

THREE area men are among more than 200 bankers in the state attending the Pennsylvania School of Banking at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, this week. They are:

Kenneth R. Alspach, East Stroudsburg National Bank; J. Freeman Betham, The First National Bank of Pen Argyl; and Howard R. Getz, Nazareth National Bank & Trust Co.

The school, sponsored by the Pennsylvania Bankers Assn., began Aug. 19 and ends today.

Curriculum at the school consists of 30 hours of lectures and case studies on bank investments, audits and operations, teller training, money market, supply and demand, teamwork in banking, commercial loans, personal loans, automobile loans, bank operations and analysis of financial statements.

Director of the school is Charles H. Zimmerman, vice-president of National Bank & Trust Co. of Central Pennsylvania, Harrisburg.

A special PBA directors' seminar also is scheduled in conjunction with the school. More than 85 state bank directors registered to attend this special two-day seminar this week.

Faculty members included 15 bank officers, and David H. McKinley, associate dean of the College of Business Administration at The Pennsylvania State University.

Bridge Design Examinations Set For Oct.

HARRISBURG — Competitive and promotion examinations for bridge design assistant and bridge design engineer I-III, civil service positions in the Department of Highways, will be held Saturday, Oct. 20. The final date to apply is Wednesday, Sept. 26.

John E. James, executive director, State Civil Service Commission, said about 50 jobs ranging in pay from $4,551 to $11,501 are open to applicants who are successful in the tests. Eligibility lists established in 1959 will be replaced following the October examination. Persons who received civil service ratings in 1961 examinations for these classes need not take the current test unless they wish to try to improve their present ratings. New applications will be required for this program.

Promotion examinations are limited to Highways Department employees with permanent or probationary status. In computing final earned ratings for employee-applicants, weight will also be given to performance ratings.

Written examinations will be held at Allentown, Altoona, Clearfield, DuBois, Erie, Harrisburg, Johnstown, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre and Williamsport.

Applications may be obtained from the State Civil Service Commission, South Office Building, Harrisburg; Highways Department personnel office, North Office Building, Harrisburg, and at district offices throughout the state; local offices of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service.

Pickets Under Injunction

RIDGWAY, Pa. (AP)—Striking electrical workers at two plants in Ridgway are under a court injunction to refrain from mass picketing, blocking roads and walkways, blocking plant entrances and congregating in large numbers.

Elk County Judge J. L. Trambley issued the five-day temporary injunction Tuesday and set a hearing for next Monday on its continuation.

Somt 50 men, members of Local 502 of the International Union of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO, struck Monday against plants of the Ridgway Tool and Die Co. and the International Powder Metallurgy Co., in a contract dispute. Police Chief Harry Hills said he arrested five men, following incidents of violence which occurred Monday when some 80 non-strikers attempted to cross the picket lines.

Four were charged with malicious mischief; one with assault and battery.

Brewers Assn. Sees 100th Year

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States Brewers Association observed the 100th anniversary of its founding Wednesday. The group calls itself the oldest incorporated trade association in the country.

The association represents concerns producing 82 per cent of the nation's beer and ale.

When the group was founded in 1862, brewers produced less than 2 million barrels a year. Today the total is about 95 million.

U.S. Awards Booster Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bigger boosters are the prime answer to how the United States can overtake the Soviet man-in-space efforts, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Tuesday.

One step in that direction was taken Monday, he said, when the Defense Department awarded a contract for developing the Titan III booster. It will have "two to three times—closer to three—the thrust" of the missile that propelled Russia's two cosmonauts into multiple orbit last week, McNamara added.

But as the United States strives for more powerful boosters, he said, it's to be assumed that the Russians will be making a similar effort.

Talking to newsmen, the defense chief confined his discussion of boosters to the Titan, a military powerhouse primarily for the Dyna-Soar winged spacecraft. It is expected to have at least 2 million pounds of thrust compared to the 800,000 pounds the Russians are reported to be employing.

Life Insurance

Bad tires in the last two weeks are said to be the cause of three turnpike accidents in which five persons have been killed.

The latest mishap occurred Monday night near Willow Hill when a car with "three smooth tires" went out of control when passing a truck and struck a bridge abutment. It then collided head-on with a tractor trailer. Three persons were killed.

Monday's crash followed a truck accident last Friday in which the driver was killed when two of the rig's rear tires blew out causing the driver to jack-knife.

A week earlier an out-of-state motorist lost her life when she was thrown from her car that went out of control when a "bald" tire blew out.

Commission Chairman Joseph J. Lawler said turnpike motorists must have good tires. He said tires on a high speed highway, "especially in hot weather" build additional pressure and may blow out.

Lawler said spot checks at the 'pike's interchanges last year detected more than 2,000 vehicles with bad tires. State police inspections at service areas also have spotted bad tires. In both cases motorists are advised to purchase better tires and directed off the turnpike.

The incidents mentioned occurred on the Pennsylvania Turnpike — a modern, perfect highway, designed for speed and safety. There are no acute curves, and the traveling surface is kept in good condition at all times.

In our rural area, there are some modern highways and thruways, but the greater number of our roads are of macadam, there are sharp curves and steep hills. The importance of good tires on our own cars, which we drive on these roads every day, can not be overemphasized.

A bald tire can be a death warrant. Good tires are life insurance!

Important River Pact

The heart of the Susquehanna River Basin lies in Pennsylvania. This can be put another way: The heart of Pennsylvania—48 per cent of it — is drained by the big river.

But the Susquehanna does not begin and end in Pennsylvania. Its source lies above Oneonta, N. Y., and it influences such big communities as Birmingham. Its mouth is the Chesapeake Bay in Maryland, and there are signs the Baltimore metropolitan area soon will turn to the Susquehanna for part of its water supply.

All of this underscores the importance of last week's creation of a three-state advisory committee to chart an agreement for developing the Susquehanna River Basin's resources. It is important to get water rights settled. Beyond that lie great opportunities for the three states, working in league with the federal government, to get far more done in water resource development than any one state could do alone.

Ten years ago formation of a committee like this would have been reason for little excitement, and justifiably so. But big changes have occurred since then.

One is the breakthrough of the interstate river commission idea in the Delaware River area. After 25 years of frustration, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Delaware and the federal government have agreed to a pact calling for a mammoth 50-year development program ranging from water storage to pollution control to recreation. This is the trailblazer the new committee will be following.

The State Department

"The New Bedford (Mass.) Standard-Times" has published an interesting series of articles on "What's Wrong with the State Department?" by Everett S. Allen who spent 18 months of investigation and interviewing.

His orientation appears in the very first sentence of his first article:

"By accident or design, this is where the 'cold war' is being lost."

The articles are interesting and contain considerable material. Random House has just announced the publication, in the near future, of a book entitled, "The Fourth Floor" by Earl E. T. Smith, former United States Ambassador to Cuba. Obviously, the title of this book can only mean that Ambassador Smith is discussing the deskmen of the State Department — the men who make policy as a result of day by day action. No President, no Secretary of State, in recent years, has been able to undo the work of these men.

Allen's series almost gives the impression that there is a hidden hand, a conspiracy, to undermine the United States. My experience with State Department activity goes back to 1917.

I would say that from 1919 to 1930, as regards China, that experience was close. The men whose pictures appear in Allen's brochure were not in the Department then. Some of them may not have been born, or, at any rate, they were children at school.

But the story was the same as it is today, except that in those days we were worried about Japan and Germany; now it is Russia.

The trouble with the State Department is organic. In the first place, even in simpler days, decisions were made at the lower levels rather than by the responsible officials, the President and the Secretary of State.

By the time, a problem reaches the top for action, so much has developed, so many decisions have been made and steps taken, that the higher officials are caught with an accomplished fact which they cannot or will not repudiate. Can not, is more correct — because the time element is a big factor.

Are the men on the Fourth or Sixth Floors all Communists, Socialists, traitors, scoundrels? Most of them are younger men who have become expert in particular areas of the Earth or on particular subjects.

They know languages, history, local customs. They become so absorbed in their specialties that they often become spokesmen for the area rather than for the United States.

All countries suffer from this mental transference and it is one reason why they keep shifting men around. In my day in China, this was so true that it was once said of a scholar, "He came to China to convert the Chinese but they got him first."

The situation is now complicated by tenure. Nobody can be fired unless he is a political appointee. The Foreign Service Law, the Civil Service Law, the Veterans Law protect men in their jobs, even if they do stupid but not criminal things.

Unless a man can be retired for stupidity or uselessness, a government department becomes clogged with unnecessary persons. Experts do know it all, but that does not mean that they have the wisdom to handle a situation.

The solution, of course, is for the President or the Secretary of State or the National Security Council to lay down a strict policy, not when an emergency arises but long before, and everybody must conform to that in every particular or be fired.

The fact of the Cuban situation is that neither President Eisenhower nor Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, knew anything about Cuba until after Castro was in absolute control. But the Fourth Floor knew as five ambassadors, Hill, Gardner, Smith, Braden and Pauley, have made clear beyond doubt.

This comes down to a matter of the organization of the transmission of material and the responsibility of the top men. This is probably true of most departments of the government. Dealing with more than 100 countries presents an almost impossible technical problem.

Secretary of State Hull, for instance, dealt with tariffs and other economic problems and knew nothing of the negotiations which led to war and eventually to an alliance of the Western Powers. John Foster Dulles was interested in isolating Russia and paid little attention to anything else. Dean Rusk needs a good office manager.

The major problem today of the State Department is that decisions be made at the very summit, not by the experts.

Bad Smell In The Smelting Department

By Mason Demison

(In this exclusive "Candidates Speak" series, Mason Demison has asked each of the eight statewide candidates — U. S. Senator, Governor, Lieutenant-Governor and Secretary of Internal Affairs — to express his, or her, views as to what they would "do" if elected, as in the case of the governorship: "As Pennsylvania's new Governor, I would — 1. What each has to say is presented herewith exactly as submitted — without benefit of any editorial blue pencil.)

By William W. Scranton Republican Candidate For Governor

Harrisburg — If I am elected Governor of Pennsylvania, the main purpose of my administration will be to build a better Pennsylvania.

I see our state after eight years of Democrat rule overtaxed and underserved. I see a steady procession of graft and corruption, inefficiency and waste.

Our state is drifting. Pennsylvanians have been getting a steady diet of power politics and little else from the government. Industry is leaving. Unemployment is soaring. Young people must go elsewhere for opportunity. We have not come to grips with the facts of life in the Twentieth Century.

If I am Pennsylvania's next Governor, every effort of my administration will be turned toward arresting the drift we are now in.

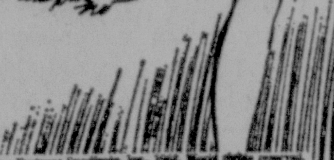

Here are some items:

Industrial Development: The state government will zero in on the problem of unemployment. I would like to see the Department of Commerce relieved of some of its other duties and reorganized as a top-notch industrial and economic development arm of the state.

Industrial Climate: By rooting out the present system of power politics and its accompanying waste and inefficiency, we will make the state of Pennsylvania more attractive to industries that have plants to locate and jobs to provide for men and women.

Community Development: I have proposed establishing a Department of Community Development to aid the communities of Pennsylvania in solving their problems of housing, urban renewal, transportation and many others.

The above, of course, is far from a complete list of the areas in which the next administration must provide leadership. During the campaign we will be saying a lot more about each of these problems. In addition, we will be proposing to the people of Pennsylvania a sound, solid program of action for the next four years.

"I don't know WHEN we'll get married. I'm not worried about WHEN we'll power—I'M worried about his WON'T power."

The Pennsylvania Story

Scranton's Viewpoints

Taxes: Pennsylvanians are paying twice as much in taxes now as they were when the Democrats took power 8 years ago. This free-wheeling spending of other people's money by politicians must stop.

Schools: Education in Pennsylvania must keep pace with the Twentieth Century. School Reorganization Act 561 must be modified to remove its inequities.

Highways: Since I believe there are people not bears living in Pennsylvania, I am for rapid completion of our federal interstate highway system. In addition, my administration would see to it that maintenance of existing highways will be resumed on a steady, efficient basis. Governor Pinchot took the farmers out of the mud; Governor Lawrence has done his best to put them back in.

Mental Health: The Democrat politicians have managed to stunt the progress in this field that Governor Leader began. I think we must get back on the track of providing the best possible mental health program with the emphasis on cure rather than custodial care. One out of ten Pennsylvanians is affected directly or indirectly by mental illness.

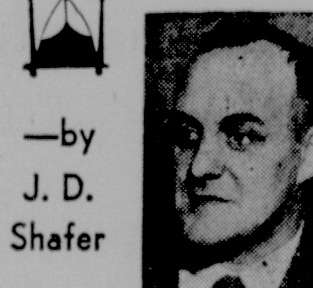

Conservation: I favor a statewide conservation program that will stop the senseless waste of our natural resources. My administration will fight for clean streams, soil conservation, development of our forests and waters and wild life, and development of recreational resources available to all citizens.

Community Development: I have proposed establishing a Department of Community Development to aid the communities of Pennsylvania in solving their problems of housing, urban renewal, transportation and many others.

The above, of course, is far from a complete list of the areas in which the next administration must provide leadership. During the campaign we will be saying a lot more about each of these problems. In addition, we will be proposing to the people of Pennsylvania a sound, solid program of action for the next four years.

Art Buchwald tells of two old friends who met for the first time in years. One obviously had prospered; the other looked terrible. Proposed the prosperous one: "Al, you've got to come to work for me. I've got a good job for you. Now cheer up — and here's $50 on account. Get some food for your family and have a jolly weekend." Al turned up for work Monday morning looking worse than ever. "I haven't eaten for five days," he confessed. "What happened to the 50 bucks I gave you?" demanded his friend.

"Well," said Al, "when I showed it to my wife and kids they all smiled for the first time in two years. And so, since we all looked happy for a change, we went to a photographer's and had our picture taken!"

A visitor to an Indian reservation near Tucson noticed one old squaw who had an expression of sublime serenity on her face. The visitor asked the squaw respectfully, "With the world in its present state, how do you manage to achieve such obviously complete tranquility?" "It's easy," confided the old squaw. "I take two tranquilizers, three times a day."

The Allen-Scott Report

Justice Frankfurter Recovering Very Slowly

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington, August 23 — Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter is making painfully slow progress in recovering from the two strokes he suffered early last spring — one suddenly late in the afternoon in his office, the other in the hospital several weeks later.

This stroke has never been announced. A few weeks ago the 79-year-old jurist returned to his apartment in historic Georgetown, but has not left it since. His left side is still paralyzed, although he now has partial use of his arm. For a while, Frankfurter was unable to feed himself. He continues to speak faintly, and has lapses of memory. He is allowed to sit up in a wheelchair, but spends most of the time in bed.

Lately, Frankfurter's doctor has banned visitors. The only regular caller is former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, the jurist's oldest and closest friend. Mrs. Frankfurter has explained to other friends that the physician feels there have been too many visitors, and her husband needs rest and quiet.

That's what she told a congressional leader who has known Frankfurter for more than 30 years and asked to see him.

During President Kennedy's brief visit several weeks ago, no mention was made of Frankfurter's possible retirement when the Supreme Court reconvenes early in October.

Several days before the President's call, he had sustained a stinging defeat in the House in the rejection of his farm bill — which the Senate had approved by a decisive margin. The President referred to this setback, and ruefully observed that one of his painful discoveries was the "limited powers of the presidency."

"A President can plan and formulate and propose," he said, "but all too often it is Congress that disposes. Sooner or later, every President unlearned learns that lesson, and I've learned it sooner."

Big Question Mark — Chief Justice Earl Warren, whose relations with Frankfurter have been coolly formal, has never heard from him about his condition or plans.

Only one of Frankfurter's colleagues has seen him since he was stricken in March — Justice John Harlan, appointed from New York in 1955 by President Eisenhower. Frankfurter, noted for his feuding with other justices, has been on cordial terms with Harlan.

One of Frankfurter's two clerks has accepted a job with a large law firm. The ailing jurist will be 80 on November 15, and in 1958 had a heart attack that kept him on the bench several months. The oldest member of the high tribunal, Frankfurter has been eligible to retire for years. He was appointed in 1939 by President Roosevelt.

Federal judges can go on the "inactive roll" with full pay at 65 after 15 years' service, or at 70 after 10 years on the bench. Supreme Court justices receive $35,000 a year.

There are now four retired justices — Stanley Reed, Ky., named by President Roosevelt; Harold Burton, O., appointed by President Truman; Sherman Minton, Ind., named by Truman; and Charles Whittaker, Kans., appointed by President Eisenhower.

Grim Heart Statistics — The shocking toll of heart disease is graphically shown by the following report by Dr. Ralph Knutti, director of the famed National Heart Institute, Bethesda, Md., to the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee, headed by Senator Lister Hill, D-Ala.: "Every minute at least one person dies from heart disease in the U. S., and more than half of all deaths each year are caused by this disease. More Americans are killed by heart disease in four months than were slain in all four years of World War II. Heart disease strikes heavily at all age groups. One-third of all heart deaths are among persons under 65. Heart disease afflicts over 10 million persons, and more than half of them are in their most productive years — 25 to 64. The National Heart Institute supports research in heart disease in more than 300 universities and hospitals throughout the country, and more than 2,000 separate research projects are now underway. . . . The theory that high blood cholesterol levels lead to atherosclerosis has not been proved."

Social Whirl — Biggest social news around the White House these torrid summer days is that John, Jr., is talking. He is almost as loquacious as his blonde sister Caroline. Asked by a visitor where his mother and sister were, young John instantly and briskly replied, "They're away. . . . Although diplomatic and other social circles are scattered at seashore and other summer resorts, the party circuit is busy as ever and "free-loaders" have plenty of opportunities to stoke up and liquor up. Two such opportunities were at Independence Day receptions at the Egyptian and Nicaraguan embassies. Both had large buffets, but the Nicaraguan party was more popular because alcoholic beverages were served. Also Ambassador Guillermo Sevilla-Sacasa, rotund and genial dean of the diplomatic corps, is a famous host, and the throng of diplomats and other officials had a grand time. . . . Jane Auchincloss, half-sister of Mrs. Kennedy is having her debut in famed Newport next summer — exactly as the First Lady did some 15 years ago. However, Jane will be more fortunate than her half-sister in one respect. The latter will give a coming-out tea and dance for her in the White House, a distinction enjoyed by few debutantes.

Coffee is the principal product of the Ivory Coast Republic, which is the third largest coffee producer in the world. But this beverage was not the principal drink at the Ivory Coast's celebration of the second anniversary of its independence from France. What the more than 500 guests concentrated on was the delicious imported French champagne. There was a large coffee urn, but it had few customers, while the two bars were kept busy serving chilled champagne.

Peace has come to Holland and Indonesia in West New Guinea and also on the Washington social front. It was re-established there by Dutch Minister L. C. Schiff who attended the reception for the 17th anniversary of Indonesia's independence from his country. Feature of the party was Bali dances by members of the embassy staff.

Inside You And Yours

Drowning In Dry Ice

Brewers, plumbers and farmers have to watch out for carbon dioxide gas. Boilers, silos and brewery vats are often filled with this odorless, colorless gas. It replaces air at the bottom of wells and sometimes in cellars.

Carbon dioxide forms when food or living matter—all containing carbon chemicals—burns or ferments. Your body burns food and carbon dioxide normally flows through your system. Trouble starts only when an excess builds up.

Along with other "harmless" gases, carbon dioxide may crowd out oxygen and drown you in this fire-extinguisher effect. Fresh air is the ideal remedy and preventative. Joe could have saved that freezer full of food without jeopardizing his life. If he had opened windows and doors before his freezer, he wouldn't have risked drowning in dry ice!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

A few minutes more in that tiny room bulging with invisible clouds of carbon dioxide might have finished him. He would have fallen to the floor unconscious—the worst place to be. Heavy carbon dioxide sinks to floor level.

Dear Abby

His Ignorance Is Obvious!

DEAR ABBY: My sister has been in the State Mental Hospital for many years. Her brain was damaged at birth and there is no hope for recovery. My husband is ashamed of it and has asked me not to mention it to anyone. Our children are 6 and 8 and he says if they should hear of it we should deny it, as he doesn't want them to know there is insanity in our family. I know he is wrong, but he won't listen to me. Maybe he'll listen to you.

GETTING NOWHERE

DEAR GETTING: There are few families who have not had a mental illness. Our minds can suffer a breakdown just like our kidneys, livers or our hearts. A mental patient is as blameless for his condition as a cancer patient. Contact your local Mental Health Society and ask for free pamphlets. Your husband's ignorance need not be permanent.

DEAR ABBY: When my husband was born he had brothers and sisters who were married and had children of their own. Consequently, my husband is younger than many of his nieces and nephews. One of his nieces is married to a man who is ten years older than I am, and he insists on calling me "AUNT MARY." He is related to me only through marriage and I resent this "Aunt Mary" business because he emphasizes the "Aunt" when there is a crowd around. I'd rather he called me "Mary." How can I get my point across?

AUNT MARY

DEAR AUNT MARY: Tell him, good-naturedly (when there is a crowd around), "Out of respect for my elders, I really shouldn't correct you in public, but won't you please call me 'Mary'?"

Teachers Attending Orientation

ORIENTATION DAYS for new elementary teachers in the East Stroudsburg Area Jointure are being held in the J. M. Hill School, East Stroudsburg.

Those attending are Miss Dorothy Neipert, Grade 3, Middle Smithfield School; Mrs. Jean Bythewood, Grade 1, J. M. Hill School; Mrs. Elva Tinney, Grade 1, J. M. Hill School; Miss Rose Niliis, Grade 2, J. M. Hill School; Mrs. Norma Roberts, Grade 3, J. M. Hill School; Mrs. Hazel West, Grade 1, Smithfield School; Mrs. Edna Watson, Grade 5, Smithfield School; Mrs. Patricia Shively, district librarian.

The purpose of these meetings is to acquaint personnel new in the district with the rules, regulations, curriculum, text books, materials, and methods of instruction. This period of orientation makes for a smooth year for pupil instruction and for teacher effectiveness and efficiency.

Participants in the orientation days are Carl Secor, supervising principal, who gives general background data; T. B. Court-right, business manager, who gives out the necessary forms required for teaching; Mrs. Pauline Peterson, assistant to supervising principal in charge of elementary education, to develop the instructional program; and the building principals, John Lambert, principal, J. M. Hill School; Joseph Kulick, principal, Bushkill - Middle Smithfield Schools; Allan Sterner, principal, Smithfield School, to go over administrative duties with them.

Builders Hear Sales Pep Talk

STEVEN Burbank, national sales representative of A. O. Smith Co., water conditioning firm, presented the program at Tuesday's meeting of the Monroe County Master Builders Assn. at the Cherry Valley Inn, Delaware Water Gap.

He was assisted by Earl Berry of Wilkes-Barre, district sales representative of the Eastern Pennsylvania Supply Co. Herbert and Richard Primrose were program chairmen.

Frank J. Young, vice president, was in charge of the business meeting in the absence of Louis Manzi, president. Robert Marley, secretary-treasurer, said the next meeting will be Sept. 18 at a place to be announced.

GOP Action Committee Outlines Election Campaign

A REALISTIC appraisal of Democratic strength in Pennsylvania and a united Republican effort in time, money, manpower and material was the blueprint for victory outlined by Bill Lindbergh, action chairman for the four-county grouping at the kick-off meeting of the Monroe County Republican Action Campaign Committee at the Penn-Stroud Hotel this week.

Lindbergh was introduced by Harold Kresge, chairman of the Republican Campaign in Monroe County.

Discussing each Republican candidate and his own activities in the campaign, Lindbergh warned against over-confidence and pointed out that "elections are won in voting districts" by political organization.

Praising the work of citizen groups, he warned that they do not know how to man the polls and that the bulk of the work must be done by committee people who should have a calculator and set quota for each committee and woman in their respective district.

Among the "facts to be met head-on and dealt with accordingly," Lindbergh listed the 83,000 jobs held by the Democratic party in Pennsylvania and the Democratic tie-in with Labor Unions. He urged that present and past Republican office holders and office seekers all combine their efforts in working for the current ticket.

Need Sales Force

He recommended a political sales force in the county with the campaign chairman to be assisted by county action director, six or seven unit directors, each of whom would enlist 15 workers for each voting district with each worker responsible for no more than 20 voters by Sept. 10.

He also advised that an election board be arranged by local lawyers to educate election workers on details and order of election.

Democratic weaknesses listed to be attacked in the campaign are high taxes, industry moving out of the state, and the Philadelphia scandal.

Kresge introduced guests at the meeting attended by 60 persons. They included Ed Krawitz, president of the Young Republican Club, who explained the club's purpose and relationship to other groups. He pledged the club's readiness to work for a November victory without taking sides in local disputes.

Registration, a meeting on Aug. 27 with Van Zandt as speaker and a picnic on Aug. 25 at 5:30 at the Rake home, are immediate objectives of the club. Krawitz said, adding praise for the "Political Politics" course headed by Richard Davis at the YMCA.

Others introduced were Ray Roberts, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, vice president of the Young Republicans and vice chairman of the Federation of Youth for Scranton-Van Zandt; Richard Davis, treasurer of the Monroe County Young Republicans, and co-chairman of the Federation of Youth for Scranton-Van Zandt; Ruth Slutter, secretary, and Dr. Clarence Dupee, advisor of the Young Republicans.

Also Nancy Shukatis, secretary of the Middle Smithfield Republican Club; Mrs. Georgia Kresge, representing the Monroe County Council of Republican Women; Bill Quinn, president of the West End Republican Club; Mary Fontanella, president of the Pocono Mountain Council of Republican Women; and three representatives of the Barrett Council of Republican Women, Evelyn and May Saxon and Mrs. Joseph Swaine.

Also introduced were Sam Saunders, chairman of the citizens committee for Woody Horn who summed up his candidate's challenge as "75 days vs. 30 years"; Amzi Altomero, chairman of Farmers-for-Scranton; Hanford Cleveland, former representative; and Jeannette Batory, register and recorder. Gerald Snyder, candidate for state Representative was absent because of illness.

State Senator William Z. Scott, candidate for re-election, closed the meeting with a talk on why he was confident of Republican victory: 1) candidates on the Republican ticket are outstanding, worthy of support, work and victory; 2) in the issues since the record of Democratic achievement which he termed "nothing to brag about"; and 3) "Dilworth—Man of Indecision."

He urged the need for "super-salesmen to elect the entire ticket and give back good government to all the citizens."

Charged With Fraudulent Conversion

GIOVANNI Dalesio, operator of Monroe Music Co., has filed two charges of fraudulent conversion against Frank Catanzariti, also known as Frank Castertine, of Plains, Luzerne County.

The charges were contained in informations filed with Mrs. Ruth Miller, Stroud Township justice of the peace. A hearing is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. today.

The information charges that on May 15 of this year, Castertine received $400 from Dalesio and on July 1 an additional $200 after Castertine "with deliberate intent to defraud" represented that he was authorized and was in fact extending the credit of Pocono Chateau, Inc.

Dalesio's complaint also says that Castertine represented that he was "authorized to have your deponent (Dalesio) apply said company's portion of income from the deponent's coin operated music machine at said company's premises until said sum of money" was satisfied, all of which representations were untrue, unauthorized and known by said (Castertine) to be untrue, unauthorized and false.

The identical informations charge that Castertine converted both sums of money to his own use.

Tomato Growing Troubles

By George Abraham
I'VE HAD a lot of questions on tomatoes recently. One common complaint: What causes the fruits to crack on the stem end? The fruits are growth cracks and may radiate outward like spokes in a wheel, or round circles.

Some cracks heal over and become firm, others remain soft and provide points of infection for organisms causing early blight and other tomato rots. What causes cracking?

It's common in periods of high temperature and during rains. These favor fast growth. Another type of skin cracking occurs when fruits are ripening during a period of dry weather. Rain (or irrigation) and hot days cause a sudden splitting of the skin.

What to do? Nothing can be done. If you water your garden, no water should be applied just before harvest as this may cause excessive cracking of the ripening fruit. You can also grow crack-resistant varieties. One such tomato is Glamour. It produces clean, smooth fruit when others are cracked and scarred.

Tomato wilt is another common problem. Fusarium wilt causes leaves to wilt and die by plugging up the plant's plumbing system. You can tell this by cutting into the stem at the ground line. If the tissue just inside the skin is dark brown, it's fusarium.

Control: Since the fungus remains in the soil, your best bet is to grow wilt-resistant varieties such as Homestead, or Surprise.

GLASS JUG GARDENING: On several occasions this department has told how to remove the bottoms from glass jugs, using a string or cord soaked in gasoline. This is ignited and after the glass heats, the jug is dipped in cold water. The bottom drops out, and you have a miniature glass house, ideal for rooting roses and all types of woody plants.

One drawback has been the ragged edge that sometimes is left. A reader of this department, Mr. Joseph B. Mars, 27 Alma Avenue, has presented me with a simple gadget he made, which uses electricity for removing the bottoms from jugs. Here's what he does: He tacks a 12" x 12" piece of asbestos board on one inch slats, then cuts a 6" hole in the middle.

Around the edge of the hole is steel spring filament to which an electric cord is attached. You place the jug's base in the hole so that the coil touches it. The rest is simple. You plug in the cord, wait a few seconds until the coil heats up. It snaps off the bottom of the jug, slick as a whistle. No ragged edges.

This method of converting a glass jug into a greenhouse is much better than the cord-soaked-in-gasoline method I mentioned. Any handyman can build one.

SNAPDRAGON RUST: If plant breeders want to do something worthwhile, they should try to develop a truly rust-resistant snapdragon. This season I've received hundreds of letters from gardeners telling me their snapdragon plants dry overnight and die off. This is snapdragon rust, a serious pest on snaps.

I've tried rust-resistant varieties but even these develop rust on our snap beds outdoors, if I don't keep the plants completely covered with zineb. You must keep the lower leaf surfaces dusted once a week for effective control.

CANNA NOTES: Lots of leaves and no blossoms? This can be due to too much shade, or too rich soil. It could also be due to poor planting stock. Cannas have a tendency to peter out and it's a good idea to replenish them after a few years. After the first touch of frost, lift the fleshy roots, leaving soil with them if possible.

If the soil falls off, dust with sulfur and store with a covering of peatmoss or vermiculite to prevent drying out. Store in 50 degs. cellar. Next spring you can divide the roots with a sharp knife, allowing one bud or "eye" for each division. For earlier blooming, start the roots indoors in 4" pots sometime in February.

POWER MOWERS: While these are a boon to gardeners, treat them with respect, especially if you are mowing a steep bank. It's easy to slip and fall into the path of the whirling blades. As a safeguard, one of my followers suggests tying ropes to the mower, letting it down by gravity and pulling it up with ropes. Be extra careful about mowing slippery banks.

One gardener I know wears spiked shoes when he mows his bank.

RIPENING TOMATOES: Some tomatoes are maturing late this season. Will removing the foliage hasten ripening? It might, but first remember that temperature is the primary factor in ripening and coloring of tomatoes, not light. A tomato will ripen just as fast in a dark cellar as it will in the window, if temperatures are the same. Removing foliage might help raise fruit temperature during the day hasten ripening by 1 to 3 days.

Once tomatoes have reached the mature green stage, best color develops at a constant temperature of 65 to 75 degs., but the red coloring is checked at temperatures above 80 to 85 degs. Color development (both red and yellow) is slow at temperatures below 65 degs., and is almost completely stopped below 55 deg. F.

CORN SMUT: Those large, black boils you see on corn plants is known as corn smut disease.

There is no control, but you can do a lot to get rid of smut by removing smutty ears before they discharge spores. Burn the boils since the spores ("seed") are wind-borne and will reinfect other corn plants.

THE COMPOST PILE: A compost pile is one way to turn rubbish into gold. Everyone should have a compost since organic matter loosens up a heavy clay soil, tightens a clay one. Use leaves, grass, table scraps, sawdust, wood ashes, shavings, coffee grounds, sod, soil, animal manures and anything else that's handy.

Question Box

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: D. E. of Stroudsburg: "Our Mountain Ash tree is loaded with berries this year. Someone said that we can make jelly from the fruit but I heard it was poisonous. Is it?"

No, this tree is in the apple family and the fruit is used for making jelly. Here's one recipe you might try: First, barely cover the berries with water and boil until they burst. Put the resulting pulp through a jelly bag and measure liquid into a cooking pan. Add sugar, cup for cup, plus one extra cup of sugar for every six cups of liquid. Boil until ready to jelly by your favorite method of determining this.

A leaf or rose geranium or other herb is sometimes inserted in the jelly after it is poured into glasses, but before it begins to jelly.

You can also make Mountain Ash-Apple Jelly. Use 3 lbs. of berries (less stalks); 7 lbs. of apples weighed after quartered and cored, but not peeled. Have on hand 7 lbs. of sugar, 2 lemons, 7 pints of water. Boil fruit and water together until soft and strain through jelly bags; boil this juice for 20 minutes, add sugar, stir to dissolve. Bring to boil again and add lemon juice. Boil another 10 minutes.

Incidentally, did you know you can make excellent jelly from the Hops and Dolgo crab apples? J. L. of Lansford: "I have a Colorado Blue Spruce whose top is turning brown. What can I do to help save the tree?"

Chances are the tree is attacked by the White Pine Weevil or similar pest. Tiny grubs bore in the shoots, causing the brown, dying ends of the top and nearby shoots.

Dry Conditions Increase Dangers Of Silo Gas

DROUGHT conditions usually increase the danger of silo gas and nitrate poisoning becoming problems on our farms. Nitrogen dioxide gas in small amounts can be extremely harmful or deadly to humans and animals, warns County Agent John Withrow. Nitrate poisoning may reduce production and harmfully affect livestock reproduction.

Withrow explains that both of these problems stem from accumulation of nitrates in plants. Heavy nitrogen fertilization from any source and/or unfavorable growing conditions may result in abnormally high accumulations. During the ensiling process, these nitrates may be converted to nitrogen dioxide gas.

This gas sometimes can be detected as a yellowish cloud of irritating gas with an odor similar to laundry bleach. Being heavier than air, it tends to come down silo chutes to the silo room.

Because of these problems, Withrow says, severely drought-stricken crops, especially corn, should not be ensiled unless certain precautions are taken in filling.

Yates Named Missile Head

LEXINGTON, Mass. (AP)—Raytheon Co. has elected Donald N. Yates a vice president and named him general manager of its missile and space division.
Yates commanded the Air Force missile test center at Cape Canaveral from 1954 to 1960 and retired as a lieutenant general in 1961.
Yates joined Raytheon last year as director of technical planning. In his new position he succeeds T. C. Wisenbaker, who is retiring after 19 years with the company.

Rubinoff To Benefit Hospital Fund

WHEN Rubinoff appears in Stroudsburg in a program of popular concert music, he will play on one of the most precious instruments in the world, the famed Romanoff-Stradivarius violin insured for $100,000.

The violin is famous for its silken, lustrous tone, its full range and almost unbelievable depth. Made in 1731 by the master of all violin makers, this particular "Strad" eventually found its way into the hands of the Romanoffs, one time rulers of Russia, and still bears the bejeweled crest of that family.

During the revolution it was smuggled out of Russia and eventually was purchased by Mr. Rubinoff.

Sensitive to heat, humidity, altitude and the risks that beset any treasure of such vast value, the Stradivarius is guarded and handled with deference and extreme care at all times. The ancient instrument still retains the original varnish and is the acme of perfection in musical instruments.

An interesting fact is that during certain passages of "Warsaw Concerto" Rubinoff exerts as much as 60 pounds of pressure on the violin. It takes tremendous strength of highly developed muscular action to draw certain tones from one of the world's delicate instruments.

Rubinoff will appear at the East Stroudsburg Area Jointure School Auditorium under the sponsorship of the Stroudsburg Rotary Club for the benefit of the General Hospital Expansion Fund on September 12. Tickets are available at Block's News Stand, Dee Jay Record Shop, Don Heller, Herb's His'n Her Shop, Holiday Gift Shop, J. C. Penney Co., Sleep's Music, Smeltz Electrical, Inc., Wye-Koff's Department Store and Zacher's Clothing.

$22 Million Loss Seen For Farmers

TOWANDA, Pa. (AP) — Northeastern Pennsylvania dairy farmers could lose nearly $22 million a year as the result of a recent U. S. Supreme Court decision that removed a trade barrier for milk sold by outside producers in the New York-New Jersey market, federal figures showed Tuesday.

Dairy farmers in the northern tier counties are looking for discussions Wednesday at a board meeting of the Mutual Federation of Independent Dairy Cooperatives in Syracuse and of the Dairymen's League in New York City to result in a program which will aid them.

Conclusions of the two meetings will be presented Sept. 5 at a public meeting in the New York City office of C. J. Blanford, federal market administrator for the New York-New Jersey area.

Bradford County, fourth largest producer in the mid-Atlantic, would lose a potential $4,464,128 on the basis of figures available for the year ending last June. Tioga County's potential loss would be $2,245,915, Susquehanna's $1,503,700, Wyoming's $1,577,222 and Wayne's $2,185,402. Other Pennsylvania dairy farmers sending milk to the marketing area would have a potential loss of $10,016,044, making the total potential loss $21,992,411.

Order Special Plane

SAINT-ETIENNE, France (AP) — A special stretcher-equipped plane ordered by Dr. Albert Schweitzer left Tuesday for the celebrated humanitarian's jungle headquarters in the African country of Gabon.

Pilot Maurice Vessier said he expects to make a leisurely flight about a dozen days to Schweitzer's hospital base at Lambarene — about 6,000 miles away.

The single-engine plane will be used by Schweitzer to airlift patients to his hospital compound in the rugged jungle.

Rev. Martin To Speak At Evangelistic Meetings

THE Rev. Albert N. Martin, of Lancaster, Pa., will be the speaker at the Evangelistic tent meetings to be held in the Stroudsburg area Aug. 24 to Sept. 2.

Martin has been engaged in an itinerant preaching ministry for five years. This ministry has taken him to churches of various denominations mainly here in the East, the Midwest, and in Canada.

He believes that "the Word of God is relevant to our 20th Century needs, and that if we will meet the God-given conditions we can know the blessing of God upon our lives."

The public is invited to attend the special services to be held at the firemen's grounds, Day St., East Stroudsburg, nightly at 7:30 and both Sunday afternoons at 2:30 p.m.

There will be no meeting on Monday, Aug. 27.

The meetings are conducted by the Berean Bible Fellowship Church of Stroudsburg and The Bible Fellowship Church of East Stroudsburg.

Rev. Albert N. Martin

Cocktail Lounge Not In Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP)—If there's a cocktail lounge in the Capitol, it's being hidden from J. George Stewart, the big building's architect and custodian.

Stewart has been deluged recently with inquiries about the existence of a formal drinking room in the Capitol, especially in the new multimillion-dollar east front extension.

Somehow or other, he told a reporter, a rumor got around that a fancy cocktail lounge was hidden away in the new front.

Members of Congress have been relaying to Stewart the indignant letters from constituents asking for an explanation.

"You have my personal assurance," Stewart said, "that there is no cocktail lounge in the extended east front of the Capitol or in any other part of the building. No consideration was ever given to the installation of a cocktail lounge."

Work Project For Indonesians

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno announced Tuesday he plans to send thousands of Indonesians into West New Guinea for development work.

The president, speaking before a women's rally in the east Java city of Surabaya, said the movement would begin Oct. 1 when the former Dutch colony passes from the Netherlands into United Nations hands for a seven-month period of interim rule.

Under the terms of a Dutch-

New Highway Link

HARRISBURG (AP)—A Harrisburg firm was hired by the State Highways Department Tuesday to design a connecting road between U. S. 322, the Keystone Shortway and Traffic Route 970 in Clearfield County.

The firm of Brookhart and Tyo will do the work for an estimated fee of $29,000. The proposed road will be located in the vicinity of Woodland.

Indonesian agreement last week West New Guinea will be turned over by the United Nations to Indonesia in May 1963.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

For once opinions on the weather seemed to be unanimous. "Keep right on refilling the order!" Even the losers in the women's golf tournament at Glen Brook were rejoicing in the weather if not their scores, and enjoyed the punch party on the lawn as thoroughly as the winners — or maybe more so because they don't have to play another winner today.

The air was so light that you had the illusion you could probably float if you could just solve the problem of getting both feet off the ground at the same time, and the clouds were never more cottony and well-placed—as if an artist had said: "Now with that curve in the hill, there ought to be a little round cloud right here" and then put it there.

Even the most laggard of us began to feel the faint stirrings of ambition and could not without panic the signs that the whole community is beginning to get ready to start to go. They're fitting and exchanging band uniforms at Stroud Union and getting ready for the Band Mothers Festival this Friday in East Stroudsburg.

Program chairmen are calling speakers to remind them of the promise they had made so light heartedly last Spring when club meetings were a whole lot summer away. New publicity chairmen are dropping in to get acquainted and find out what is expected of them.

Political parties are sharpening their knives and piling up the ammunition. Fund campaign chairmen are pressing for definite promises from what they hope will be key personnel. College girls are spending their summer salaries on new clothes. Mothers are trying to catch the younger fry long enough to get them vaccinated and fitted for school shoes.

Teachers are luxuriating in these last long evenings with no lesson plans and no homework. All except Allen and Mary Sterner, maybe, who just got their daughter Marilyn back from her travels in Europe, and have been living over again with her experiences in the countries which her letters described so vividly.

As a symbol of this season, my favorites are the chimney swift tracing arabesques against the evening sky. It's a season of sudden dusk, of homecoming and departure, of soaring plans and sudden quiet.

On a day like yesterday, we might wish that this season could last forever, but a large part of its charm is that it is so fleeting, that we must seize the moment or lose it forever in the demanding routine of ordered days when nobody has time to notice the shape of a cloud or how high the sky.

Reverse Order

The caption accompanying the picture of the three boys in "Shoeless Joe from Hannibal, Mo." listed them in reverse order. Larry Zaccaro was the smallest one on the right and Danna Chioda the one on the left while centerman Bruce Posten was right reading either way.

The Baby's Named!

THE DAILY RECORD congratulates the parents and introduces to its readers the following new babies:

Kathryn Beth Hoagland
Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoagland of Mount Bethel RD 1 announce the birth of a daughter, Kathryn Beth, on Aug. 18 at the General Hospital. She weighed 6 pounds 9 ounces.

Older children are Mark, 4; Lisa, 2.
Mrs. Hoagland is the former Nancy Oxford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Oxford of Bangor, RD 1. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Mary Hoagland of Bangor.

Marie Elizabeth Warner
Their seventh child, a daughter, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Warner of Saylorburg RD 1 on Aug. 16 at the General Hospital. She weighed 8 pounds 3½ ounces and has been named Marie Elizabeth.

Miss Catherine M. Ford Bride Of Rev. George Alt

Mountainhome—Coral and blue set the theme of the mid-summer wedding of Miss Catherine M. Ford to Rev. George R. Alt in the Mountainhome Methodist Church Saturday, August 11.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ford, Cresco. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Alt, 317 W. Sparks St., Philadelphia.

Rev. John S. Carter performed the double ring ceremony at 2 p. m. in the presence of a number of friends and relatives.

Mrs. Warren Miller accompanied the soloist, Rev. Stewart Kreiss, of Philadelphia. Solo selections prior to the ceremony were "Oh Perfect Love," "One Hand, One Heart" and "Oh Love Divine and Golden." During the ceremony as the couple knelt at the Communion rail, Rev. Kreiss sang Malotte's "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, escorted by her father, chose a floor length gown of white silk organza over taffeta. A wide Puritan collar accented the scoop neckline. Seed pearls were embroidered on the Alencon lace edging the collar. The fitted bodice and three-quarter length sleeves topped a bell-shaped skirt which was gathered in the back which was gathered in the back which was gathered in the back.

Mrs. Alt, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of white silk organza with a cascade of coral carnations. She carried a white Bible, the gift of the bridegroom's parents. It held a white orchid and streamers with lilies of the valley. Her single strand of matched pearls was also a gift of the bridegroom's parents.

Miss Ruth Ann Boston, Cresco, was maid of honor. She was attired in a cocktail length gown of coral silk organza with a matching satin cummerbund. Her gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice, three-quarter length sleeves and scoop neckline over a bell-shaped skirt. A Dior bow in coral was trimmed with a tiny veil.

She carried a cascade arrangement of coral carnations. The bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Wieboldt, Miss Judith McCoy and Miss Dolores Burrows, all of Cresco. Their gowns were made in the same manner as Miss Boston's, but in a shade of electric blue. Their cascade bouquets were in blue to match the gowns.

Rev. Alt is a graduate of Lyncoming College, Lyncoming, and the Drew University Theological Seminary. He is pastor of East Bangor Methodist Church.

The couple will make their home in East Bangor.

Cook pitted dates with a little orange juice and sugar; add grated orange rind and use as a filling for oatmeal cookies.

Robert Scott Miller
Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Miller of Mount Bethel announce the birth of their fifth child, a son, on Aug. 15 at the General Hospital. He weighed 6 pounds 10½ ounces and has been named Robert Scott.

Older children are James 12; Jane Ann, 7; Bonnie, 5 and Roger, 4.
Mrs. Miller is the former Betty Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell J. Lee of Bangor RD 3. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Miller of Wind Gap RD 1.

Women In Egypt Want More Freedom

Cairo (AP) — Egyptian womanhood, supported by President Nasser, is mildly campaigning for more freedom against a religious leader who wants them to cover up and stay home.

Bare arms and ankles are "a disgrace to Islam" and emancipation is "a sinful Western cancer that is gradually gripping Egyptian women," the religious leader told a recent congress in Cairo.

He is bespectacled, bearded Sheikh Mohamed Ghazali, general director of Egyptian mosques.

Women should dress like nuns, the sheikh told the congress, and his supporters yelled back: "Down with equality of sexes . . . bring back the veil."

Live Same Old Way

While many women in Cairo wear European fashions and take office jobs, most village girls and women live the way they have for centuries — hooded or veiled and confined to their homes or the fields.

As women delegates at the congress cried "shame, shame," one recalled: "President Nasser spoke of ridding Egypt from all forms of exploitation. How can there be freedom in Egypt when the worst form of exploitation goes on — of men over women?"

President Nasser himself advocated emancipation and told the congress women should take a more active role in Egypt's social and political activities.

"I believe work protects women against sin," he said.

A few days later, a band of Sheikh Ghazali's supporters staged a small riot.

Feminist Party Banned

Egypt's only feminist party, "The Daughters of the Nile" was banned in 1954 along with all political groups.

But in 1956, Nasser gave the ladies the vote for the first time in history and two women won seats in parliament.

Now several women's associations operate on a non-political basis.

"But we want more," says Mrs. Mounira Housni, a former women's party leader. "Women should be allowed to work in the diplomatic corps, join the army and the police, work as postwomen, and assume judicial responsibilities."

Not all Egyptian women feel emancipation is good for Moslems.

"Women are emancipated when they stay home, bearing and rearing children," says one housewife.

Western Families Suffer

"The Western family is suffering from a gradual disintegration and lack of unity, and the American woman sacrifices her family happiness for clumsy and unwarding social and political involvements," says another.

Dr. Mohamed el-Bahie, dean of the Al-Azhar University Research Center, takes a middle view saying:

"The Koran warns women against falling into the pitfalls of sin, but does not prohibit social and political freedom."

"But caution must be taken so the Moslem family does not meet the fate of the American family, which is by no means united. Women's participation in social and political activities is permissible under Islam, but should be kept within reasonable limits."

Women In Egypt Want More Freedom

Cairo (AP) — Egyptian womanhood, supported by President Nasser, is mildly campaigning for more freedom against a religious leader who wants them to cover up and stay home.

Bare arms and ankles are "a disgrace to Islam" and emancipation is "a sinful Western cancer that is gradually gripping Egyptian women," the religious leader told a recent congress in Cairo.

He is bespectacled, bearded Sheikh Mohamed Ghazali, general director of Egyptian mosques.

Women should dress like nuns, the sheikh told the congress, and his supporters yelled back: "Down with equality of sexes . . . bring back the veil."

Live Same Old Way

While many women in Cairo wear European fashions and take office jobs, most village girls and women live the way they have for centuries — hooded or veiled and confined to their homes or the fields.

As women delegates at the congress cried "shame, shame," one recalled: "President Nasser spoke of ridding Egypt from all forms of exploitation. How can there be freedom in Egypt when the worst form of exploitation goes on — of men over women?"

President Nasser himself advocated emancipation and told the congress women should take a more active role in Egypt's social and political activities.

"I believe work protects women against sin," he said.

A few days later, a band of Sheikh Ghazali's supporters staged a small riot.

Prospector Makes Strike With His Own Gold Bugs

Yuba City, Calif. (AP) — A man, hunting gold many years ago, found ladybugs.

They are those small, rounded, brightly colored beetles you see occasionally in your garden. They chew up aphids and other pests without eating vegetation.

Farmers buy them by the gallons to save their crops. "I've been in the ladybug business since before 1940," said Louis E. Schnoor, 57, of Yuba City.

Vegetable growers in Oregon, Washington and California, and cotton and wheat farmers in Texas, Oklahoma and Arizona are his best customers.

Schnoor, born at Barstow, Calif., grew up in New Mexico, then returned to California in 1938.

While prospecting for gold he saw ladybugs clinging to oak and pine needles.

Schnoor, a 5 foot 11 inch 180 pounder with graying hair, leased 40 acres from the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. on the north fork of the Yuba River, 12 miles west of Downieville in northern California.

"The area is one of the few places in the United States which has a climate suitable for the bugs to breed and grow," Schnoor said.

"As the bug eats, it stores up a fat supply to carry it through winter hibernation. In the summer, Mother Nature makes it possible for the bugs to hibernate again."

"During the two hibernation

SHOPPER

This has been a very bleak day. The storm that began last evening (Monday) is continuing this morning, and one moves through an atmosphere of thick, dull gray that seems to press down heavily upon one's shoulders. The talk throughout our store is dreary too, for we have been shocked by the death of Eva Edson who, for 35 years, has been a very important member of the Wyckoff Store Family.

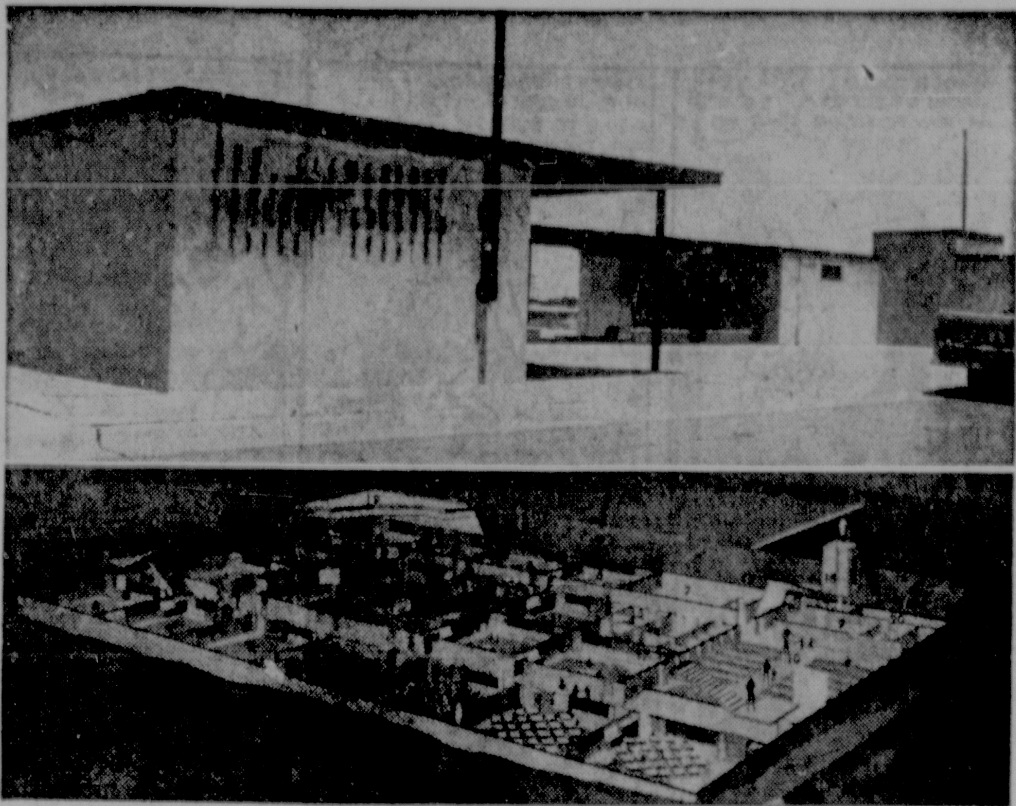

Ever since I can remember, Mrs. Edson has been at the head of our Wyckoff alterations department, and there are many who would agree that no one was a finer seamstress or had a better knack for adjusting apparel that was either too large or too small. Many times I have marveled at the way she could take a garment apart, and put it back together, easing it here, taking it in there, until it seemed custom tailored to the customer.

I knew Eva Edson as a little girl... the mother of my friend, Helen, now Mrs. Clarence Booth. Later I knew her as the woman who altered my own purchases at Wyckoff's. Still later I was to know and appreciate her as a co-worker. Whenever I lost a button at work, or a seam unraveled, or I caught my heel in my hem, I would head toward our Wyckoff alteration room. Sometimes Eva would stop what she was doing and attend to me. At other times, Marie Bean or Hannah Bronner would solve my problems while Eva sat by, plying her own needle and thread over a dress or suit, and entering into general conversation. She was a widow who had reared a fine family, working tirelessly to do so. She had suffered a number of serious illnesses, and had gone through a worrisome condition with her eyes at one period. But always she held fast to her sense of humor and her determination to be self-sustaining.

We are told she had not been feeling too well for several days, and that last night she slept quietly away on the living room sofa. To this we all have said, "How wonderful! This is exactly the way she would have chosen to go—with no great or prolonged trouble to anyone. She would have hated being dependent on others, particularly those whom she loved so dearly, even a long period." And we are all pleased that, if she suffered at all, it was only briefly.

Eva was 81 years of age, but she never looked it and certainly never acted it. She always seemed young in heart, looking forward to tomorrow... next week... next year... enjoying her grandchildren and sharing their expectations. That is how we will remember her, and how she would wish to be remembered.

UNDERGROUND SCHOOL recently dedicated at Artesia, N. M., is an example of how functional construction can be combined with community fallout protection. Shown is the small portion of the $470,000 Abo Elementary School which is above ground, and a cross-sectioned sketch of the underground facilities and supplies for the 540 students or 2,000 shelter occupants. The underground school is the first of its kind in the country.

Chinese Salad Adds Oriental Touch To Meal

Summer's the salad season, the time for light, bright foods, crisp textures, and cool flavors. Here's a jaunty green salad with accents of red and white tossed together in the La Choy kitchens to meet all three tests. A can of Mixed Chinese Vegetables, containing bean sprouts, water chestnuts, bamboo shoots, mushrooms, and sweet red peppers is blended with torn lettuce, watercress, young spinach leaves, and romaine for a delicate Oriental taste.

Top the salad off with a tasty variation of a simple oil and vinegar dressing to complete a cool accompaniment to summer meals.

Chinese Garden Salad
(Serves 6)

- 1 can (1 lb.) Mixed Chinese Vegetables, drained
- 1 cup young spinach leaves
- 1 head lettuce, torn in pieces
- 1/2 bunch watercress
- 1/2 bunch romaine

Dressing

- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 1/4 tsp. pepper
- 1/4 tsp. sugar
- 1/4 cup white vinegar
- 1 tsp. soy sauce
- 1/2 tsp. dry mustard

Combine dressing ingredients and shake well. Toss together with chilled salad greens and Mixed Chinese Vegetables.

Pick Right, Dry Bright For Winter

Straw flowers, globe amaranths and other kinds of flowers that you may have grown for use in dried bouquets in winter should be watched closely now for they are nearing the best time for picking.

When they are just short of fully open, but already fully colored, it's time to cut their stems, strip off the leaves, and tie three or four stems together at their bottoms. Then the little bunches of stems are carried to a dark, airy place and hung heads downward from a line stretched from wall to wall. Here they'll gradually lose their moisture while retaining their bright color. In about three weeks from time of hanging they should be dry enough so that they can be cut from the line and stored in closed cardboard boxes in a dark, dry place until it is time to use them next winter.

GLOBE amaranth is an excellent choice for dried bouquets. The bright purple blooms add a different hue to winter flower pieces.

There's one sure way to keep a butter-type cake from sticking to a baking pan. Grease the bottom of the pan; line the bottom with waxed paper; grease the paper; now add the cake batter and bake.

Partners' Business Runs On Trust And Service

By Roberta Fleming Roesch

"What's the best way to run a partnership?" and "What's the best way to run a restaurant?" are two of the questions I can count on turning up regularly in my mailbox.

So today, while visiting "The Bull and Bear" in Hillsdale, New Jersey, a dining spot that's as successful as it is imaginative, I asked the restaurant's young partner-owners, Alex Saterelli and Arthur Haby, for their answers to both of these questions.

Gay Mentors

To get the answers, however—since a giant-size portion of kidding and a lot of give and take are trademarks of both the young owners—I found myself kibitzing first, before either Alex or Art would take me seriously enough to become the ponderous mentors I was asking them to be.

Finally, though, Alex spoke. "If you're honestly serious about our being serious with advice," he said, "the beginning point I'd like to make is that you have to have implicit faith in each other to make a partnership work."

Trust Each Other

"And that's exactly what we have," Art said, taking time out to compliment his partner instead of kid him.

"Quite a few years ago the two of us met in the army. Then, after our army days, each of us had varied experience in the restaurant business on our own before we decided to get together as partners and open the restaurant we ran on Wall Street in New York before we came to New Jersey."

They Specialize

"In addition to having implicit faith in each other," Alex tossed in, "we've found in both our restaurants that all partners have to realize that in certain areas one partner does better than the other. In our case, Art supervises the kitchen and I'm the maitre d' out front."

"But that doesn't mean either one of us can't do any big or little job that's involved in the operation of this partnership and restaurant," Art pointed out quickly. "And that, I think, is the real foundation for anybody's success at running a restaurant."

"The only way to get this is to start at the bottom in the food business," he added. "For example, I started at the bottom by washing pots and pans in a bakery when I was 13."

"After you learn the business from the ground up and have the training, experience and well-rounded knowledge to run a restaurant of your own—it was Alex's turn—"the next step is to start building a reputation for catering to your customers. You should be willing to do anything for anyone."

The two restaurateurs started grinning again when I threw in my "For instance?"

An Example

Then, after some more kibitzing, they settled on the instance of the dignified vice-president of a brokerage house who, one rainy day while they were still on Wall

Two Can Work As One. With Each In His Special Circle

Street, couldn't get a taxi to take him five city blocks to an afternoon appointment.

"Naturally we couldn't let him walk," Art said. "He was one of our best customers. So I carried him on my shoulders to his destination."

In addition to this kind of special catering, Art and Alex also advise all potential restaurant owners to (1) always keep a sense of humor (2) take a gamble when necessary (3) start with a simple menu and simple operations and (4) never be above doing anything because you're owner!

Festival Postponed

Widow Directs Delivery Firm

Montreal (AP) — Mrs. Laur-etter Gravel, owner-director of a 31-truck delivery firm, says "It's no business for a woman—but sometimes circumstances dictate these things."

She inherited it six years ago when her husband died. The attractive, 46-year-old blonde, who feels that most men still don't believe women are capable of running a business, is the sort of example that will soon change their minds.

With no previous experience and not having worked during the 12 years she was married, Mrs. Gravel tackled the business with all her energy. She studied commercial and civil law and at one point was the only woman among 70 men taking a business administration course.

"Since I had no children when my husband died, I had to plunge into something absorbing," she explains. She was accustomed to hard work, however, having taught seven grades in a one-room school for eight years before her marriage.

One of the difficulties she encountered when she took over was competing with firms run by men. "Many companies don't have confidence in women executives," she says.

The Wig Is Back In Style History Records Its Perils

The wig is back in style and—judging from newspaper reports from Chicago and Hollywood—so is wig-snatching. But if history is any teacher, the worst is yet to come.

The Egyptians were among the first to use wigs, but World Book Encyclopedia points out that they had an excuse of sorts—wigs protected them from the heat of the sun. When the style came back in the 1600's, it was strictly for vanity's sake, and the repercussions were felt by innocent babes and national treasuries.

From the moment Louis XIV became bald, the wig was the thing in Paris, and the style quickly jumped the Channel into England. The English, eager for a diversion after the gloomy rule of the Cromwells, took up wigs with a passion. Wig-snatching might have been expected. But soon children were being forbidden to go out-of-doors alone, lest some enterprising thief snip off their locks.

Fortunately for French children, their elders preferred horsehair. And they imported so much of it from Germany that it threatened but the National Assembly decided the new liberty made them part of the fraternity and voted them 22 million francs in compensation.

England, disgusted by the Revolution's excesses, kept its powdered wig on. That is, until the government needed money to fight the wiggless French. The fashionable Englishman might remain unperturbed as he powdered his wig with flour that would otherwise have been made into bread for the poor. But when the government slapped a tax on hair powder, a principle was at stake. Millions for wigs, perhaps, but not one cent for a tax . . . and the wig went the way of all fads.

G-D-S Fair To Feature Muzzle Guns

OLD-time muzzle loading rifles and a shooting demonstration by a Blue-Gray drill team with ram rods and powder horns being standard equipment during a novel marksmanship contest, will be the top feature at the 45th annual Greene-Dreher-Sterling Community Fair, Aug. 29th-Sept. 1 at Newfoundland, Pa., in the northern Pocono Mountains.

As a result of the Civil War Centennial observance, muzzle loaders, long since discarded, have found their way out of family storage places to guns within the Pocono area for polishing and repairing.

Other highlights scheduled at Newfoundland Fair Grounds include a dairy show and judging, a horse show, a colorful country music jamboree featuring such recording stars as Louvin Brothers, a tractor driving contest, and old fashioned square dance, a special dinner for octogenarians and a Golden Wedding anniversary for couples, and a baby parade.

Lacking the commercial honky-tonk flavor that is so characteristic of most fairs, the Greene-Dreher-Sterling Fair is nationally known for its exhibits of Blue Ribbon cakes, pies, cookies, jams, jellies and pickles.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Thursday, August 23, 1962

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Do not be indifferent to the just demands of your work and the added obligations that go with life. Emphasize constancy, common sense, flexibility.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Venus auspicious. New gains can be achieved, notably in electrical fields, the theatre, the arts, through new contacts. Plans should mature as quickly as possible. Do not undertake more than you can handle.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Mild planetary vibrations. However, if you have a lot going for it, if you will look sharp, be keen and, of course, do not come to hasty conclusions. YOU can find openings others miss.

June 22 to July 21 (Cancer) — Genuinely auspicious. Your whole Moon sponsors artistry and the rewards will please. Reach into the unusual; study improved methods. Eliminate "can't" from your thoughts. "I will try" helps to get things done well and fast. Enlist an old matter, give spirit to a lagging corner.

August 22 to September 21 (Virgo) — A time for listening thoughtfully. Sound advice always teaches something. Caution advised in monetary, legal issues. Pen up your brand of enthusiasm. Delight in small gains.

September 22 to October 21 (Libra) — Planetary benefits generally sponsoring new spurts of progress. A chance to exercise your enterprising talents, which are considerable. Keep your practical side to the fore.

October 22 to November 21 (Scorpio) — Do not attempt to impose your views on others; it may be resisted with vigor. This is a day when gentle persuasion will accomplish far more than force.

November 22 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Have no delusions; progress will not be easy now, but steady advancement is possible if you work for it. Aim to solve issues with equanimity, through restrained discussion. The patience of Job.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Planetary aspects neither all friendly, nor otherwise. You who put your thinking cap on early, and keep it on, will know what to do, what not to do. Think carefully. There are some misleading influences now.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Uranus gives you bright prospects. Avoid excitability and tension, and you can force ahead with appreciable gains.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Before the week goes farther, check over methods and means employed. Could there be even slight alterations that would improve, keep on improving matters. Do not think of today only; consider the long-range view.

YOU BORN TODAY are intuitive, analytical, sympathetic; practical. You are endowed with executive ability, friendliness, wholeheartedness; are willing to work hard, would make an excellent merchant, instructor, public speaker, actor, musician, private secretary, nurse, physician. Self-developed powerful here. Birthdate of Louis XVI of France.

LAFF-A-DAY

"I don't care if you are in the plastics business, I want a DIAMOND engagement ring."

Investment Formula

By William A. Doyle

Q. I am a retired high school science teacher. From 1918 to 1930, young and with few responsibilities, I lost about $2,500 "playing the stock market." I feel that initial loss was cheap education. As a result, I drew up the following rules of investment policy.

My investment program is built like a house, with a firm foundation in savings and insurance. The "upper floors" are bonds, stocks and mutual funds.

Investment stocks have long records of earnings and dividends. Growth stocks are difficult to judge, pay small dividends but have good records of steadily-increasing earnings.

I never buy more than one stock in any one industry. Diversification is important. Better to buy 10 shares each of five different stocks than 50 shares of one stock.

Forget about "bargain hunting." Never buy on margin. Disregard tips, hunches, etc. Avoid outright speculation but remember that the prices of all stocks are subject to daily fluctuations.

Over the years, the value of my investments increased more than 500 percent. I am still way ahead, even after the major decline in stocks prices this year.

Do you approve of my investment program?

A. So much so that some people may accuse me of being lazy and allowing you to write this column for me.

You may be going a bit overboard on diversification. That has its merits because it does "spread the risk" over many different stocks. It's the financial adaptation of "Don't put all your eggs in one basket." But it can be overdone if you spread your investment among too many stocks with which you are not familiar. As a retired teacher, you should realize that there's a lesson in your letter for everyone who took a beating in the 1961 stock market tumble. Let's consider your letter a lecture to all those who tried to get rich in a hurry in the stock market.

Q. As you have pointed out, some companies are buying back their own stock in the open market these days. What percentage of its outstanding stock can a company repurchase if it has the money in its treasury to do so? When a company repurchases its own stock, does it have the right to put that stock back on the market at a later date?

A. In theory, a company could buy back all of its outstanding shares—except one. At that point the owner of that one share would be the sole owner of the company. In practice, things don't work out that way. Various states have laws setting a minimum number of shares a corporation must have outstanding. To have its stock listed on a stock exchange, a company must have a fairly large number of shares of stock outstanding, held by a reasonably large number of stockholders.

Also, the repurchase of a very large number of shares by the company would undoubtedly send quite high the market price of the shares remaining outstanding. So it works out to a matter of judgment by the company's directors as to how many shares (if any) will be repurchased.

When a company repurchases its own stock, the shares involved become "treasury stock." The company may reissue that stock at some later date—perhaps as a stock dividend, to effect a merger, to raise new cash when it is needed or for any of a number of purposes.

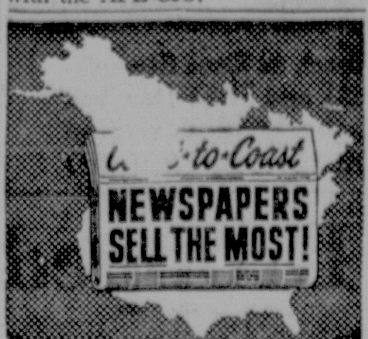

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

Sympathetic To Teamster Aims

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy says he is sympathetic to objectives of the Voice of the Teamsters, a rebel faction attempting to gain control of Local 107, one of the biggest in the independent union.

Kennedy, who was in Philadelphia Saturday to address the National Association of District Attorneys, told newsmen he would meet briefly with attorneys of both the Voice and the local's ruling regulars. Local 107 is headquartered in Philadelphia but has members in Eastern and Northern Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware.

Voice leaders are seeking to wrest control of the local from Secretary - Treasurer Raymond Cohen and supporters of International Teamsters President James R. Hoffa. The rebel group says it wants the Local to reaffiliate with the AFL-CIO.

Anchor Tracks Or Stop Trains

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Public Utility Commission ordered railroads in Pennsylvania Tuesday to discontinue the practice of allowing trains to pass over sections of track improperly or incompletely anchored.

The action came shortly after the end of joint hearings by the PUC and the Interstate Commerce Commission into the wreck of a special Pennsylvania railroad excursion train at Steelton July 28. Nineteen persons were killed and more than 100 others injured in the tragedy.

An ICC safety expert testified at the hearing that failure of track crews to restore rail anchors was one of several contributing factors in the wreck.

Houston Turns Down Bid To Buy Oilers For $2.5 M

HOUSTON (AP) — Officials of the National League Houston Oilers said Wednesday they have turned down an offer to buy the American Football League for $2½ million.

The announcement was made after K. S. (Bud) Adams Jr., owner of the Oilers and a 10 per cent owner of the Colts, said the Oilers will not play their 1962 home games at Colt Stadium.

Adams said the Oilers will continue to use Jeppesen Public Schools Stadium where he made about $300,000 in improvements prior to the 1960 season.

Colt officials had hoped the Oilers would move to Colt Stadium this year and remain there until construction of a domed, all-weather county stadium is completed in 1965.

The Houston Sports Association, owner of the Colts, holds a 40-year lease on the domed stadium.

A prepared statement released by the association said Adams offered to sell the Oilers for $2½ million.

"In the light of Adams' disclosures of his own experiences in operating the Oilers we felt the price was at least $2 million too high," the statement said.

Adams has not revealed his financial losses with the Oilers but has indicated he lost about $700,000 in 1960 and broke even last season. The Oilers won the AFL championship both years.

Commentaries — on Sports

Tony Cesare
Sports Editor

ONE OF THE extra interesting angles that will take place Saturday during the Jackie Gleason Golf-A-Thon at Shawnee Country Club, will be the matching of wins between Mr. Gleason and the "sweet swinger from West Virginia"—Slammin' Sammy Snead.

To many folks, Snead is noted for his great golfing and the drawl from his TV commercials, but Slammin' Sammy is quite humorous in his own right.

With Gleason, the two should provide plenty of golfing antics while on the straight and narrow to help the Salk Institute Building fund.

All proceeds of this outstanding golf feature will go to the benefit of the Salk Institute.

The Shawnee program is tied-in with the first annual Jackie Gleason Celebrities Golf Tournament. The Celebrities Golf tourney—one of the many special fund-raising events now under way across the nation—will give area golfers an opportunity to support Dr. Salk in his endeavors and at the same time pit their skills against the best of the golf and entertainment world.

Fred Waring, Sr., the maestro of the music world and the Poconos' own Art Wall, Jr., of Pocono Manor CC, will certainly enliven the program which is to be one of the greatest golfing performances in the area—that is, in the performance of golfing abilities and funniness.

The "you ain't whistlin' Dixie" performer, at the age of 50 can still bend over and pick a golf ball out of the hole without bending his knees.

This one, Gleason will have to attempt.

"Come on teah, little ball, now let's skaddiddle into that little ole hole, hyar," will be just a part of the Snead jargon.

Snead is a colorful performer. He has consistently been the man the gallery has been following since 1937. It will be no different Saturday, except that the gallery could be greater in magnitude because of the famous foursome participating in the event.

Snead has his own explanation for his attractiveness to a gallery. He once said: "Ah think they follow me because I'm so unpredictable. People just seem to wonder what he's gonna do."

The star golfing match will certainly be unpredictable. Fred Waring will be on his home ground; Wall will be at a rival course, and Gleason will attempt to show Snead all the wonderful tricks he has "taught" Arnold Palmer.

The match is scheduled for 2 p. m. and tickets are now on sale. Admission for the stellar event is $5 per person, with children under five years of age admitted free.

It looms as a day of golfing the Poconos won't soon forget.

Blue Valley Lanes, Inc., at Wind Gap is forming one of the best leagues ever undertaken at the establishment. The bowling center will have a 10-team scratch league with $500 for the top team and at least $100 for the last place club.

The league will hold its first meeting Friday night at Blue Valley Lanes and individuals or teams, wishing to join may attend the session at 8 p. m.

At present, some six teams are in the league.

Vern Parsons, of Pen Argyl, is the league president. Anyone wishing further information may contact Parsons or officials at the bowling center.

Big Daddy Lipscomb Right At Home With Grid Steelers

WEST LIBERTY, Pa. (AP) — Gene (Big Daddy) Lipscomb is a contented man these days and he gives the credit to his coach, Buddy Parker of the Pittsburgh Steelers.

"Buddy knows how to get the best out of me," Lipscomb said as he relaxed before practice at West Liberty State College. "For instance, he lets me run with the backs during wind sprints and exercises because he knows I like to do that. And I get to carry the ball, too."

"I don't want to take anything away from my other coaches," the 6-foot-6, 290-pound behemoth added, "but Buddy is the best as far as knowing his men and knowing football."

Lipscomb's contentment is a far cry from his shock and disappointment last summer when the Baltimore Colts traded him to the Steelers. He had become somewhat of a legend with the Colts and was a mainstay in their truculent defensive line.

"Sure I was unhappy about being traded," Lipscomb said. "After all I had played with those fellows at Baltimore for a good many years. But everybody knows it's not too hard for Big Daddy to get along with people, and I found a lot of friends here."

The mammoth tackle found his friends fast for in 1961 he enjoyed one of the finest seasons in his 10-year National Football League career.

"Last year was my best year for rushing the passer," Lipscomb said. "With the Colts I didn't have to rush so much but here I had the chance. And I just love to rush that passer. After all that's my bread and butter, and it's a lot of fun."

Lipscomb also has fun when his team wins NFL titles. And he's had a ball on three such occasions, once with the Los Angeles Rams and twice with the Colts. The fact that the Steelers haven't won any championships in 29 years of existence doesn't discourage him. All they need is the luck of Big Daddy.

"I really and truly believe that this team can win the championship this year if we mold together and get a few breaks," Lipscomb said. "We certainly have the material. Guys like Ernie Stautner, Johnny Sample, Lou Michaels, Bobby Layne and Buddy Dial are championship stuff."

Although he's 31, Lipscomb sees no specific end to his career.

"The age of a ball player means nothing," he said. "You are only as old as you feel and I feel like a youngster that just started. Playing this game is a dream and I'll play until someone takes my place."

He'll get an argument on that score, for no one will ever really take the place of Big Daddy.

Navy Too Easy, Quits Academy

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—A candidate for the Navy football team quit the academy Wednesday because the course is too easy.

Coach Wayne Hardin said Tom McKean, sophomore center from New Rochelle, N.Y., resigned from the academy "because it was too easy for him."

Hardin said McKean was "real bright" and had gone to Columbia University to study advanced mathematics.

Sturdivant 3-Hits Colts; Bucs Win, 3-0

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Bob Skinner's two-run triple backed a 3-hitter by knuckleballer Tom Sturdivant Wednesday night as the Pittsburgh Pirates eliminated the Houston Colts from the National League pennant race with a 3-0 victory.

The loss was the 81st of the year—and sixth in a row—for the Colts. They have won 45.

Sturdivant won his sixth game against three losses and had a no-hitter for 4 1/3 innings before Hal Smith singled to left. Al Spangler's two-out single in the sixth and Bob Lillis' leadoff double in the ninth were the only other blows off the one-time New York Yankee star.

Skinner's triple in the third inning came after Don Hoak and Dick Groat singled. Bob Clemente followed with a sacrifice fly to score Skinner.

Chris Short Blanks LA On 3-Hitter

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Southpaw Chris Short pitched a three-hitter as the Philadelphia Phillies beat the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers, 5-1 Wednesday night.

The only Dodger run came on a tremendous home run in the seventh by Frank Howard over the left field roof which tied the score at 1-1.

The Phillies broke the tie with a tally in the seventh and then clinched the game with three runs on homers by Johnny Callison and Don Demeter in the eighth.

The loss was the eighth in their last 11 games for the Dodgers, and the win was the 11th in 13 for the seventh-place Phillies.

SHINES FOR METS — By Alan Maver

THE NEW YORK METS DON'T HAVE ENOUGH GAMES LEFT TO BREAK THE MAJOR LEAGUE RECORD OF 134 LOSSES, SET IN 1899, BUT THANKS TO THE LONGER SCHEDULE THEY'LL HAVE A GOOD SHOT AT THE MODERN MARK OF 117 SET IN 1916.

HOWEVER, IN RICHIE ASHBURN THEY HAVE ONE GUY WHO MAKES THE WORD 'METS' ON A UNIFORM LOOK BIG LEAGUE. SHOULD HAVE HIS BEST SEASON SINCE HE WAS BATTING CHAMP FOR THE 2ND TIME IN 1958. MIGHT HAVE HAD A SHOT AT THE TITLE AGAIN IF HE HAD HAD ENOUGH AT BATS.

ALL-STAR PITCHER — The Mets' ace, Tom Seaver, pitched a 1-0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday night.

Seaver's performance was a testament to his skill and control, as he kept the Phillies' bats from doing much damage.

The Mets' victory was a significant one, as it moved them closer to the top of the National League standings.

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—West Lawn defeated Beaver Falls 9-3 Wednesday to become the only undefeated team in the American League state baseball tournament.

Havlicek Dropped By Grid Browns

By BARRY DAVIS

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—John Havlicek, dropped by the Cleveland Browns, of the National Football League, plans to return to the sport that made him an Ohio State hero—probably with Boston of the National Basketball Association.

The 6-foot-5, 210-pound former forward, who with Jerry Lucas helped Ohio State reach basketball heights the past three years, was cut from the Browns' roster Wednesday. He hadn't played football since high school, when he was a star quarterback. The Browns had hoped he could make it as a flanker.

The Browns' seventh draft choice this year, Havlicek also was drafted by Boston of the NBA and Cleveland of the rival American Basketball League, and had baseball offers from the Cleveland Indians, New York Yankees, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

"I consider Boston the New York Yankees of basketball," said Havlicek, who was the Celtics' No. 1 draft choice. He said he would have liked to play with Lucas professionally but "wasn't too sure of the American Basketball League."

Lucas was the center of a stormy battle during which the Cleveland Pipers tried to get a NBA franchise but were refused when financial obligations to the NBA were not met.

"I didn't have any trouble with the physical contact," Havlicek explained regarding his pro football venture. "I just came up at an inopportune time. There are so many good pass receivers here. Another handicap was that I never had to block before, having been a quarterback in high school. I still think I can catch the ball as well as anyone."

Browns' Coach Paul Brown said Havlicek "did amazingly well, but was handicapped by years away from football while at Ohio State."

"He probably could have stayed on a while longer, but I felt it was better to make the decision now. I told John I felt his future was in basketball."

Home runs — Chicago, Carreon (4); Hersherberger (3); Baltimore, Adair (9).

Cubs Raise Hubbs Pay In New Pact

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie Ken Hubbs, who broke two National League fielding records for second basemen a week ago, signed a new contract with the Chicago Cubs Wednesday for an undisclosed pay increase.

It was the third 1962 contract signed by the 20-year-old former Colton, Calif., high school star. After a routine signing for 1962 last fall, he was given a new contract early in the season on the basis of his fine play.

Hubbs a week ago played his 58th straight game without an error and handled his 321st consecutive chance flawlessly. Both were league records for second basemen.

Set 2nd Trial For Miss Reis

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Dist. Atty. Harry W. Lightstone said Wednesday he has scheduled the second burglary trial of Lillian Reis for Sept. 10.

Miss Reis, 33-year-old Philadelphia night club entrepreneur, is charged with master-minding a burglary at the home of John B. Rich, Pottsville coal operator, in August, 1959. Her first trial ended in a hung jury.

Gleason Golf Tourney Is Open To Area Players

THE Poconos will have a chance to witness a "once-in-a-lifetime" event Saturday when the famous foursome of Snead, Wall, Gleason, and Waring tee off in a benefit match at the Shawnee - on - the - Delaware Country Club.

Slammin' Sammy Snead, Jackie Gleason, Art Wall, and Fred Waring, will be among the featured golfers participating in the First Annual Jackie Gleason Golf Tournament at the Shawnee Inn and Country Club Saturday.

The tournament, which will see hometown golfers from coast to coast, matching their scores against those posted by top professionals and entertainers, will benefit the Salk Institute Building Fund of the National Foundation March of Dimes.

Gleason is taking time out from rehearsals for his new T. V. series for this event for which Fred Waring is donating the use of his noted resort course.

In other sections of the country other top professionals, including Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus, will be playing other courses at the same time.

Select Opponent In exchange for a contribution to the Salk Institute Building Fund, local golfers at the nation's many clubs will receive an entry blank and scorecard for the Celebrities Tournament. They will then select one of the Celebrities as their opponent and play 18-hole round at their own club up to September 1st.

Local golfers whose net score is lower than their Celebrity opponent will receive a special medalion inscribed with a picture of Dr. Salk on one side and on the other "I beat (opponent's name) in the Jackie Gleason Celebrity Golf-A-Thon."

Play at Shawnee will start at 2:00 p.m. Admission for spectators is Five dollars, all of which will go to the Salk Building Fund. Children under 12 yrs. will be admitted free when accompanied by their parents.

Affectionately, Kelso Cop Honors At Saratoga Springs

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—Ethel D. Jacobs' Affectionately, undisputed 2-year-old filly queen, and Bohemia Stable's Kelso, horse of the year in 1960-61, shared the honors before a crowd of 14,804 Wednesday at Saratoga.

Both odds-on choices ran fully to expectations, as Affectionately accounted for the 71st running of the $79,725 Spinaway Stakes and Kelso celebrated his comeback with a victory on the grass course.

Affectionately, leading all the way, was under extreme pressure to beat Katherine Raible's Nalee, a 35-1 shot, by a length and a quarter in 1 minute 10 2/5 seconds for the 6 furlongs, a stakes record. Third in the field of nine was George D. Widener's Rare Exchange, 2 1/4 lengths farther away. Fashion Verdict was fourth.

Affectionately, winner of 9 of 10 races, earned $51,821 and increased her total to $194,231. She paid $2.60, $2.40 and $2.10.

Kelso paid $2.50, shortest price at the meeting. He was $2.30 to place and $2.10 to show.

Ismael Valenzuela rode both, and had two other winners.

Kelso's victory was achieved with decisiveness although Valenzuela went from a pull to a drive on him in the last sixteenth. He won by a length and a half from Call the Witness in 1:41 4/5, only 3-5 of a second slower than the track record for a mile and a sixteenth on turf. Fountain Hill was third in the field of seven.

Wins 50 Mile, 31 Hour Swim In Michigan

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP) — Greta Andersen Sonnichsen, very tired but happy, struggled ashore here Wednesday afternoon to win a 50-mile Lake Michigan endurance swim, begun 31 hours earlier in Chicago.

Mrs. Sonnichsen, born in Copenhagen, Denmark, but now living in Los Alamitos, Calif., received a check for $10,000 and a trophy from the swim's sponsor, a Chicago auto dealer.

She also claimed a world record for open water swimming. The old record was claimed in 1961 by an Argentinian, Antonio Bertondo, when he swam the English Channel in both directions, a total distance of about 40 miles, in 43 hours, 15 minutes.

Ten swimmers started out Tuesday from Burnham Harbor in Chicago but only two remained in the final hours of the swim. When Mrs. Sonnichsen reached shore, Ted A. Erikson, 34, of Chicago, was still several miles from Kenosha.

Charley Scott Defends Title In Scranton

CHARLEY Scott, flashy Philadelphia welterweight champion of Pennsylvania, will defend his title Monday, Aug. 27 when he meets Joe Salci of Wilkes-Barre in 12 rounds at Scranton.

Scott has kayeod Sugar Hart, Isaac Logart and others in his class and is one of the top fighters.

Salci, coal region champion, has won 31 of 34 fights in his young career.

Five other outstanding bouts are also on the card for the event which will take place at the C. Y. C., 500 Jefferson Ave., Scranton. The fight will not be televised.

Doors open at 7 p.m. with the first bout getting underway at 8:30 p.m.

Scott, who has participated in many engagements, said he was a victim of poor verdicts. The most important was against the late Benny (Kid) Paret, prior to the former welterweight king gaining his chance at the title. Scott lost by the margin of one point.

"I beat Paret that night but didn't get it," said Scott. "And he should have been put on a shelf for a recuperation period. I have received many letters from across the nation telling me that the wrong man got the decision... the TV viewers saw it the same way the sports writers and I believed that I won," said Scott.

Scott is presently in training for his 12 rounder with Salci. He doesn't relish losing his hold on the state crown is demonstrated by the fact that he has gathered together a group of stand-out sparring partners. Among them is George Benton, who beat the number two middleweight Joey Giardello.

Joe Brown, 36 In Comeback Bout Friday

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Former lightweight champion Joe Brown doesn't plan to fight as long as Archie Moore — "but I want to keep going at least until I get another title fight."

The 36-year-old boxer from Houston, Tex., who ruled the 135-pound roost for 5½ years, begins his comeback campaign here Friday night in a 10-rounder against fast-rising Luis Molina, of San Jose, Calif., with a 20-1 record.

Brown successfully defended his title 11 times until he ran into the left jab of Carlos Ortiz last April 21 in Las Vegas, Nev. Ortiz won a lopsided decision.

"I think I'm coming along better this time than I was for Ortiz," says Brown. The champ had his problems preparing for Ortiz after a high fever practically on the eve of their originally scheduled February bout forced a postponement until April.

Even if the ex-champ gets past Molina, he wants a few more bouts before trying for a rematch with Ortiz.

Newfoundland Man Captures 19 Trophies

NEWFOUNDLAND — The eleven trophies won by George Geiges, Jr., recently in pistol matches at Reading, have been supplemented this week with eight more trophies, won as a result of his performance at the South River Pistol Championships, South River, New Jersey.

Geiges won the first place spot, the Grand Aggregate, shooting in the expert class and missing eight trophies during the day. He scored 2498 out of 2700 aggregate.

The local man shoots over 10,000 rounds a year in three calibres: .22, .38, and .45, in competition and in practice. He casts and reloads all of his center-fire ammunition.

His next match is scheduled for mid-September in Harrisburg.

Geiges, together with Willis Gilpin and Bob Hettes, make up the committee for the new this-year muzzle-loading rifle contest scheduled for 1 p.m. on Saturday, September 1. This match is open to anyone who has a muzzle-loading rifle and who wishes to enter the competition.

Wins Amateur Baseball Title

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Pitcher Clay Bittinger scattered seven hits and bunted home the winning run Tuesday night as Washington won the All-American Amateur Baseball Association title with a 3-2 victory over Milford, Mass.

Bittinger's squeeze bunt in the sixth inning came with the bases loaded and scored Don Loftin.

It was the fourth time Washington won the AABA title. All three Washington runs were unearned as they took advantage of three Milford errors, two key wild pitches and a run-scoring passed ball.

The game was originally scheduled to be played at Barrett but work is being done on the playing field, necessitating the change.

For Eastern States Industrial Championship

200 Top Industry Golfers Compete At Glen Brook

TWO HUNDRED of the finest industrial golfers from Eastern United States will be on hand this weekend (Aug. 25-26) to compete in the 36-hole Eastern States/Industrial Golf Championship Tournament at Glen Brook Country Club in Stroudsburg.

This is the thirteenth renewal of the tourney sponsored by the Eastern States/Industrial Recreation Association. Players are legitimate employees of the firm on which team they play.

Three classes or flights will be in effect so that golfers of varying degrees of skill have an opportunity to win on either a team or individual bases. The tourney will have teams of four men in the three flights:

A Flight will be for teams averaging 330 or less.

B Flight will be for teams averaging 331 to 360.

C Flight will be for teams averaging 361 or more.

Industrial flights will consist of:

A Class — Average of 82 or under.

B Class — Average of 83 to 91.

C Class — Average of over 91.

Team and individual trophies will be awarded on Sunday immediately following the tournament.

The Penn-Stroud Hotel will be the headquarters for participants and tourney officials.

The Eastern States/Industrial Recreation Assn. is composed of executives of leading industrial firms in major cities and areas along the Atlantic Seaboard interested in organizing and placing industrial athletes in their proper place in the American sports picture.

Donovan Wins 16th As Tribe Beats Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Dick Donovan earned his 16th victory and ignited the game-winning rally with his third single Wednesday as the Cleveland Indians beat the Detroit Tigers 7-3.

Al Luplow's triple in the eighth scored Donovan and Willie Tasby, snapping a 3-3 tie. Tasby reached base on Dick McAuliffe's fumble of an apparent double-play grounder and that could have carried the Tigers safely out of the inning.

Vic Wertz' pinch-hit homer tied the score for Detroit in the seventh.

Gary Bell saved the victory for Donovan, escaping from a jam when the Tigers loaded the bases in the eighth. Bell, getting Cleveland's fourth hit, singled in a run in the two-run ninth.

Cleveland 010 001 122-7 13 0

Detroit 100 010 100-3 9 2

Donovan, McDowell (8), Bell (8) and Romano; Kline, Fox (7), Mossi (8), Nischwitz (8), Kopitz (8), Foytack (9) and Brown, Roarke (8), W-Donovan (16-7), L-Mossi (8-12).

Home run — Detroit, Wertz (4).

Lakers Vs. Oldtimers

THE Saylorburg Lakers of the Pocono Mountain Baseball League will meet the Saylorburg Oldtimers in a game scheduled for 5:30 p.m. Sunday. The contest will be played on the Saylorburg field.

Patterson In Unexpected 'Bout' With Boy, Age 5

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO (AP) — Heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson arrived in Chicago Wednesday and was stopped on the street by a wild-swinging city visitor, Jay Johannigman of Cincinnati—age 5.

The champ, opening his training camp at the Marycrest Farm in Elgin for his title defense against Sonny Liston Sept. 25 in Comiskey Park, held a news conference at a Loop hotel. As he left, Johannigman and his 7-year-old sister, Mary Anne, tore away from their mother and ran up to Floyd.

Jay started swinging.

"A neighborhood bully came up to me the other day and I gave him a right to the eye like this," said Jay as he put up his dukes.

Patterson got a big laugh out of the demonstration and patted Jay and his sister on the head as he left for Elgin, 35 miles away.

The incident broke the monotony of the news conference, during which Patterson answered the usual run of routine questions in his subdued, low-voiced manner.

"Liston says he will get you in five rounds," someone said.

"I hope he doesn't," replied the champ.

"Liston has belittled your hitting power. What do you say to that?"

"I feel I have the hitting power to take him out."

"How much do you weigh and what are your training plans?"

Fires No-Hitter

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Gary Ross fired a no-hitter Tuesday night in leading McKeesport, Pa., to a 4-0 victory over Hagerstown, Md., in a first-round game of the Pony League eastern regional playoffs.

In the other game, Greensboro, N. C., used two singles and a two-base error in the second extra inning to beat Stratford, Conn., 4-3.

"I'm at 190 now and plan to weigh that at fight time. The heaviest I ever weighed for a title defense was 195. The last time I boxed was Sunday at my camp in Highland Mills (N.Y.). I probably will box again Saturday. I've been training on and off at Highland Mills since February. I could be ready to fight in a week or so if the fight was then. I have no fear of going stale. I know how to pace myself physically and mentally."

The champ's entourage includes a party of nine, plus two limousines driven in from New York.

Automation: Friend Or Foe?

EDITORS NOTE — Does turning work over to machines kill jobs or generate new ones? In the following story — last of three stories on automation — AP Business News writer Darden Chambliss details current arguments.

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The way to get full employment fast, says one industrialist wryly, is to outlaw the wheel.

If people had to carry everything on their backs, there would be jobs for all. That makes as much sense, he says, as talk that automation will recklessly replace men with machines.

He and many economists argue that in the long run, at least, technological change creates far more jobs than it destroys.

Some in recent months have argued back that this reasoning is merely historical. Automation isn't necessarily like those other changes, they say.

The first 10 years of automation do not offer evidence that is mutually acceptable to both parties. The National Association of Manufacturers says that automation didn't destroy jobs, but in fact added to them through such new products as color television and certain plastics.

The AFL-CIO speaks of two million people added to unemployment rolls between 1953 and 1960.

Looking ahead, many economists argue as does W. Allen Wallis, president of the University of Rochester and former dean of the School of Business at the University of Chicago. He says that just as the automobile generated far more jobs than the ones it destroyed in the buggy industry, so will automation changes broaden total job opportunities.

In addition, this thesis continues, making a product more attractive through automation—either in price or in quality—may step up total demand. The resurgence of the coal industry stems in part from lower prices made possible by better machines.

New products, made feasible by automation, generate jobs where none existed before. Inexpensive portable cookout equipment and accessories are now big business, and have created a new industry in supplying charcoal.

White-Collar Workers
White-collar workers now, for the first time, outnumber their blue collar counterparts. Between 1953 and 1961, the number of production workers decreased by 1.2 million while the total in service industries (transportation, sales, finance, etc.) grew by 5 million.

Even within the manufacturing industry, some 90 per cent of job growth has been in the white collar fields, a personnel director estimates.

Many have suggested that as jobs are lopped off assembly lines, workers can readily shift into the white collar and service categories.

Switching workers from one industry to another, however, is a solution that may work better in theory than practice. Big adjustment and retraining programs are needed.

Communities in Illinois, West Virginia, Michigan and Pennsylvania have set up retraining programs. About a third of the states provide for unemployment checks to continue when workers are taking vocational retraining.

The Congress this year authorized $43 million to retrain one million jobless breadwinners in the next three years.

Many companies—Armour and Co., Kaiser Steel, Campbell Soup—have worked out their own retraining programs.

Many industries have quietly operated continuous up-grading programs. One expert estimates that 75 per cent of American industry has some such program operating more or less constantly.

How effective have these programs been? In-plant upgrading programs, the experts say, have been very effective. With others there have been some big disappointments. In distressed areas, one critic said, retraining merely meant that men had different jobs to be off.

However, industry, labor and government leaders have expressed confidence that a growing economy can hire all the nation's people gainfully.

WYCKOFF TRAVEL BUREAU — 664 Main, We'll make travel reservations for you.

"We are aware that in the neighborhood of half a million Pennsylvanians change addresses each year," said Secretary Charles M. Dougherty.

"In view of this fact, the comparative trickle of change of address forms to reach our Bureau of Motor Vehicles can only mean delays and disappointment for many of these people during the winter rush for new driver credentials.

"I urge all motorists whose addresses have changed to procure the necessary form as soon as possible and send it to us to avoid undue difficulties next winter."

The Change of Address form—RVG-2—is a simple self-explanatory questionnaire of the "mail-back" variety. No filing fee is charged, nor is an affidavit necessary. It is available from motor club offices, Justices of the Peace, State Inspection Stations, as well as from numerous other sources.

Under the Motor Vehicle Code, motorists must report change of address within 48 hours on motor vehicle registrations and within 15 days on operator's licenses. However, the simplified RVG-2 form allows motorists to satisfy both requirements at once, without complications.

New Milestone Of Service Reaches N. E. Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG — A new milestone of service for the people of 12 Northeastern Pennsylvania counties was reached recently at the state's Regional Diagnostic Laboratory at Tunkhannock, State Secretary of Agriculture William L. Henning has announced.

On July 30, the Tunkhannock laboratory listed its 10,000th case entry — representing the number of persons who have brought poultry and other farm animals to the center for diagnosis. The total number of diagnoses has exceeded 22,000.

The Tunkhannock laboratory was opened July 1, 1961. Since then it has helped to guard and maintain the health of Northeastern Pennsylvania's herds and flocks. Originally set up for poultry diagnostic work, the laboratory in the past three years has expanded its services to include all farm animals. The work includes brucellosis blood tests for the showing and sale of animals and for emergency purposes.

Secretary Henning said increasing use is being made of the laboratory facilities each year. During July, 1962, detailed autopsies and associated laboratory tests were performed on over 500 poultry specimens and 42 animal specimens. These were in addition to routine brucellosis, leptospirosis and pullorum disease tests.

The laboratory, one of six such diagnostic centers operated by the State Department of Agriculture at as many different locations in the state, is staffed by Dr. E. T. Mallinson, poultry pathologist, and Dr. W. R. Williams, veterinary pathologist, both of Tunkhannock, and William J. Shalata, laboratory assistant, from Noxen, Pa.

The laboratory building was built by the Northeastern Pennsylvania Poultry Producers, Inc., and is being made available to the state for the diagnostic work.

Cake Theft Fine

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — Thomas A. Allison, 19, of York, Pa., was fined $50 and costs today on charge of stealing a package of 10-cent cupcakes. "It's not the value of the cake, it's the principle of the thing," said Magistrate James B. Robins, who imposed the fine.
